How Far Motorized Nazi Troops Have Pierced Beyond Historic Old Russian Western Bastion on Upper Dnieper is Not Disclosed by High Command, But Soviet Efforts To Recapture City Said To Have Been Shattered

LOSSES OF DEFENDERS BELIEVED TO BE HEAVY

By the Associated Press

Berlin, July 19—The "gate to Moscow" was declared open tonight after the Germans claimed substantial successes far east of Smolensk, but there was no indication that the Nazis proposed to take immediate advantage of the reported vulnerability of the Russian capital.

Military commentators said the chief purpose of the Germans would be the destruction of the largest possible part of the Russian army as a fighting force and would continue to pinch off sections and mop them up as fast as possible.

The German wedge, driven past Smolensk into central Russia, has been considerably widened, the German High Command said.

In a review of the first three weeks of the Russian war the High Command said the Russian air force up to July 10 had lost 6,233 planes on all fronts, and that Russian losses in the battle between Bialystok and Minsk amounted to 324,000 prisoners, 1,800 cannon and 3,332 tanks. In other actions Russian losses were placed at 80,000 prisoners, 2,600 cannon and 4,283 tanks.

The war bulletin also reported gains on the northern and southern flanks.

It declared German and Rumanian forces moving into the Ukraine from Bessarabia had crossed the Dniester River "in several places" and said the Red Army had been pushed back in the north to the northern shores of Lake Ladoga.

The German and Finnish drive from the north was said to have smashed through stubborn Soviet resistance.

WAR BRIEFS

By the Associated Press

Cairo, Egypt, July 19.—(AP)—The British forces at Tobruk made three simultaneous raids on the Axis forces yesterday, inflicting serious casualties, a Middle East general headquarters communique said today. The raids were so successful, the official announcement said, that "for nearly three hours the enemy put down an extensive artillery barrage."

Berlin, July 19.(AP)—Increasing German reports of Russian women being captured on the eastern front with Red Army troops have raised the question of when is a woman soldier. (The Russians have reported women serving as nurses and auxiliaries with the Russian army but not as fighters.)

London, July 19. — (AP) — Sir Archibald Sinclair, secretary of state for air, told a Liberal party conference today British bombers have sunk "no less than 300,000 tons of enemy shipping and damaged as much again" in the last four months. "Our fighter aircraft," he added, "are fighting at the extreme range over enemy territory and they destroyed on the average more than twice the number of German aircraft that we ourselves lost."

BRITAIN READY FOR SPECIAL 'V' DAY OBSERVANCE

REICH IS RETALIATING

London, July 19.—(AP)—The director of Britain's "V for victory" campaign against Germany today broadcasts final instructions to inhabitants of German-occupied countries on the continent for the special "V" day to be observed tomorrow.

"Colonel Britton," as the British radio announcer directing the campaign is known, told his listeners that their first step would be to take a vow "to continue faithfully this fight in the best way you can for your country's independence and honor."

Then he said, the psychological war against the German armies of occupation should be carried on everywhere at every opportunity. The "V" symbol should be displayed in writing everywhere it can be put and tapped out in Morse code when it cannot be written, "Col. Britton" said.

The British were keenly interested in seeing what tomorrow's reaction to the specially stepped-up campaign would be. They have been surprised by the rapid spread of the "V" war already, a device started by "Col. Britton" almost jokingly but soon made into a serious campaign when reports indicated that it was having wide and powerful results.

The Germans have attempted to take over the "V" symbol in a counter-offensive, declaring it as their own, the initial for the German "Viktoria," but the British are certain this will fail.

Amsterdam, German-Occupied Netherlands, July 19.—(AP)—A German counter-offensive against the British "V for victory" campaign was started in a big way today throughout the Netherlands.

"V is for victory., for Germany

Industrial Peace Formula Offered By C. of C. President

By the Associated Press

An industrial peace formula—strike moratorium committees composed of representatives of labor, management and the public—was placed before the nation for consideration today by Albert W. Hawkes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Pointing to success of the plan in Toledo, Hawkes, in a radio address last night offered it as a national solution to labor dispute problems.

He said local Chambers of Commerce could establish the committees and push voluntary mediation. In Toledo, said Mayor John Q. Carey of that city, the board of five labor, five industrial and eight public members, saved many millions of dollars in wages and man-hours of production.

GOVERNMENT IS TIGHTENING UP ON IMMIGRANTS

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—Weeding out Axis spies, subversive agents and propagandists, two inter-departmental committees established to tighten up drastically on immigration from German-dominated Europe are now handling 100 cases a day against a human backlog of 500,000 refugees clamoring to enter the United States.

The two committees, composed of representatives of the State, War and Navy Departments, Federal Bureau of Investigation, and immigration service of the Justice Department, were organized to supervise issuance of immigration visas under President Roosevelt's new authority to control the entrance or exit of aliens or Americans "in the intrest of national defense."

Officials said every effort is being made by detailed investigations here and abroad to determine the desirability of applicants as prospective American citizens and to keep foreign agents from slipping into the country in the guise of immigrants.

Under President Roosevelt's orders, visa applicants also are carefully examined, to prevent the entry of persons who leave close relatives in Germany, Italy or Nazi-conquered countries.

Long Legislative Session and War Combine to Reduce Number of Votes On Beer and Liquor, Head of Anti-Saloon League Says

DEAD LINE IS PASSED

Harrisburg, July 19—(AP)—The long legislative session and the war combined this year to reduce the number of local option votes on liquor and beer, in the opinion of Dr. F. Scott McBride, head of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League.

The dry leaders, held in the legislature during the past seven months to watch the progress of bills changing the liquor laws, were able to assemble their forces today in communities where the votes will be taken September 9.

The dead-line for filing petitions to place the local option question on the ballot passed last week.

Dr. McBride said "we do not have many reports yet but we do not expect as many referenda as there would be under normal conditions because of the war situation and the long session of the legislature."

SPECIAL SESSION IN DOUBT

Prospects for Agreement Will Have to be Good Before Governor James Will Call Legislature Back In Extra Meeting to Re-Apportion the State's Congressional Districts, Executive Warns in Statement

ADAMS IS REAPPOINTED POLICE COMMISSIONER

Harrisburg, July 19—(AP)—The prospects for agreement will have to be good before Governor James will call the legislature back into special session to re-apportion the state's congressional districts, the executive said today.

The assembly adjourned at dawn yesterday after a last futile attempt to cut the number of U. S. representative districts from 34 to 33, as required after the 1940 census.

"I shall make my decision on the question of calling a special session for congressional reapportionment only after further study to determine whether there really exists any prospect for agreement on a fair and proper plan of reapportionment," said James.

It is estimated that special sessions of the legislature cost from $250,000 to $500,000 depending upon length. Each member receives $500 for attending 30 days, with another $250 if the session goes longer.

Failure to reapportion the districts before the 1942 elections will place all 33 congressional seats on a state-wide, instead of local basis.

The conference committee representing both branches of the legislature held 37 meetings in an effort to reach accord on a plan. Finally two compromises came out on the floor of the Senate—one a Republican proposal to cut a district from Philadelphia which was promptly squelched in the Democratic-controlled House. The seven members of congress from Philadelphia are Democrats.

The other represented the Democrats' major plan, which Republicans said was the exclusive proposal of that party. It would have combined Lehigh and Berks in one

MANY PETITIONS YET TO BE FILED AT COURT HOUSE

With but one day remaining for candidates to file petitions to have their names placed on the ballot at the primary election, September 9th, there still remain many who have not filed at the county commissioners' office, it was stated this morning.

One additional candidate for a county office filed his petition. He is J. R. Allen, Democratic aspirant for the office of register and recorder.

Four more council candidates in Warren borough have filed their petitions, it was stated, including three Republicans and one Democrat.

Republican candidates, all incumbents, are F. W. Waite in the second ward, Harold S. Hampson in the fifth and Delbert W. Lewis in the eighth. Albert Schwartz has filed as a Democratic candidate for council in the seventh ward.

It was pointed out at the commissioners' office today that in order to have their names placed on the primary ballot, candidates must file their petitions not later than five o'clock, daylight saving time, on Monday. No petitions received after that time will be accepted, either by mail or in person.

In addition to the petitions already mentioned, the commissioners' office reported today that many have been received for township offices. A list of these will be printed following the last day for filing.

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY DIES IN THE HOSPITAL FEW HOURS AFTER BEING STRUCK BY TRUCK WHILE AT PLAY

William Connolly Songer, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Songer, Succumbs to Injuries Received Earlier In Afternoon

DRIVER IS NOT HELD

Injuries received when he was struck by a truck near his home about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon resulted in the death of William Connolly Songer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Songer, 225 Jackson street, North Warren, in the Warren General Hospital about 9 o'clock last night. The boy, who would have been 9 years old in September, suffered a fractured skull, fracture of the upper right leg, lacerations of the left leg and cuts and bruises. He died without regaining consciousness.

According to Private J. E. Ruffa, of the state motor police, who investigated the accident, the boy was struck by a tank truck owned by the firm of Fred Tapp and Curtis, of Sugar Grove, and operated by Howard Curtis, 36, of Eldred, R. D. 1, one of the partners.

Private Ruffa stated that the boy was following a wagon loaded with hay, drawn by a team driven by Ray Gilman, an employe of the Warren State Hospital, which was proceeding west.

Riding on the rear of the wagon, it was stated, were two other boys, Charles Lindberg, Jr., of 235 Jackson street, North Warren, and Scott Sharman, Jr., 112 Church street, North Warren. They told the officer that the Songer boy asked them if there was room for him to ride on the rear of the hay wagon and when they replied in the negative he started to run across the highway, darting into the path of the tank truck, which was proceeding east.

The driver of the truck told motor police he didn't see the child until he struck him, and that he had no chance to avoid the accident.

Private Ruffa said that a car operated by Marie Swanson, of 14 Church street, North Warren, with Mrs. Anna Lawson, of the same address, as a passenger, was following the hay wagon. He said that both women corroborated the statements of the Lindberg and Sharman boys regarding what had happened.

The left front fender of the truck, a 1941 International struck the boy, throwing him just beyond the center line of the highway. The

WHEELER MAKES SHARP RETORT TO CHIEF EXECUTIVE

Consisten Critic of Administration Foreign Policies Invites the President to Follow Same Tactics Which He Criticizes

BULLETIN

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt went to work today on the message he will send to congress next week urging removal of the one-year limit for military service of draftees, National Guardsmen and reserves. No appointments were made for today or tomorrow in order that the president might employ his full time on the message.

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) said today that "if the president would 'pull a Wheeler' he would keep his promise to keep us out of war."

The Montanan, consistent critic of administration foreign policies, was referring to Mr. Roosevelt's press conference statement yesterday that he would not disclose future troop movements. Authorizing direct quotation, the chief executive added: "In other words, I don't think it's right that I should pull a Wheeler."

Wheeler predicted in advance the movement of American forces to Iceland, and Britain's Prime Minister Churchill implied later that the senator had endangered British lives by his statement.

Repeating that if he "pulled a Wheeler" the president would keep the nation out of war, Wheeler added Mr. Roosevelt had made that promise during the last campaign and also "made a promise to the draftees that they would be per-

NEW MEXICO IS SCENE OF BATTLE FOR WATERHOLE

BY RICE YAHNER

With the First Cavalry Division in the Desert, July 19—(AP)—(Via Airplane Courier)—Seventeen thousand soldiers—the new cavalrymen with horses, tanks and even airplanes—"fought" in southern New Mexico today for a water hole.

It was all part of the nation's preparedness for defense in a method of warfare in which oil is a principal prize. But with the cavalry in the desert, water—15 gallons a day for each of 7,000 horses—is a greater prize.

This simulated warfare, with the First (regular) Cavalry Division opposing the 56th Brigade (federalized Texas National Guardsmen), was the first phase of ten days of war games in preparation for larger exercises—full armies against each other—in Louisiana later.

In developing the battle, the 56th Brigade swung in a great semi-circle of about 50 miles north of Fort Bliss, Tex., and took high ground in the vicinity of Flat Tank Charley, a mud-walled water reservoir at the foot of the Organ mountains.

Half of the First Division held them by the nose while the other half slipped around during the night and hit them in the rear.

Yesterday, three of the cavalry's "grasshopper" planes—light two-place commercial ships, used as behind-the-lines messengers—cracked off landing gears in landings on the humpy desert. None of the pilots or passengers was injured.

RED ARMY FIGHTING FURIOUSLY

Detachments Waging Guerrilla Warfare Behind German Lines Recapture Two Cities, Breaking Up Armored Enemy Columns, Capturing Three Whippet Tanks and a Number of Armored Cars Along With Considerable Ammunition

AMBASSADOR REMAINS WITH PART OF STAFF

By the Associated Press

Moscow, July 19.—Russian detachments waging guerrilla warfare behind the German lines reported today the recapture of two cities identified only as "SH" and "Z."

Red Star, the Soviet army's newspaper, said in a dispatch from the front that the original band numbered only ten men but that others were quickly recruited and these broke up an armored German column, capturing three whippet tanks and a number of armored cars and bicycles as well as considerable munitions.

The paper described the bands as "partisans," and said after the attack on the armored column they turned against the bulk of the Reichswehr troops, surrounding the city of "SH."

A bitter battle followed during which the German garrison was destroyed. The "partisans" then marched into the city where the population welcomed them with food and clothing.

Red Star said that in the Latvia area there were 1,000 of these partisans engaged in attacking isolated German units and disrupting communications, and that Russian calvary also was operating, in one instance capturing German officers and 65 motorcycles and two batteries.

Part of the personnel of the United States embassy meanwhile has moved to Kazan, 450 miles from Moscow.

All through the night a Soviet communique said, the Red Army fought stubbornly in the Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Bobruisk areas.

The roar of cannon, planes and tanks and the cries of battle came from the 140-mile deep salient the Nazi mechanized forces and speed infantry have driven to Smolensk, 230 miles southwest of Moscow, and the areas on its flanks.

STRIKE AFFECTS FILM DELIVERIES

The company, at which the AFL Newspaper Delivery Drivers, Chauffeurs and Handlers, Local 211, struck yesterday, serves virtually all theatres outside Pittsburgh in a 150-mile radius in the delivery and pickup of films from Producers' Exchanges here, Callahan said.

Callahan asserted the union gave only a 48-hour notice of its intention to strike, resulting in what the company president called "the

INQUEST TO BE HELD MONDAY IN REYNOLDS DEATH

An inquest into the death of William H. Reynolds, of Southwest township, who died a week ago in the Warren State Hospital from a fractured skull suffered a month before, will be held at the court house here on Monday evening at seven o'clock, it was announced today by Coroner Ed C. Lowrey.

Louis Jackson, also of Southwest township, has been charged with aggravated assault and battery in connection with the death. It is alleged that he wielded a flatiron which caused the fatal injury. At present Jackson is under $1,000 bond for his appearance at the next term of court here.

Coroner Lowrey and Sheriff William C. Stuart were in Southwest township and in Titusville yesterday, interviewing prospective witnesses for the inquest.

Among those who will testify are Dr. E. P. Cuthbert, of Titusville, who attended Reynolds on the day after he had been hit by the flatiron on June 13; Dr. H. S. Anderson, of Titusville, who last Saturday dressed cuts on Reynolds' face, suffered when he tried to jump through the window of a car in which he was taken to the Titusville Hospital, and who ordered Reynolds brought to the state hospital; Gordon C. Tracy, of the Arnold Funeral Home at Titusville, who brought Reynolds to the state hospital; E. G. Wright, with whom the Reynolds family lived; Floyd Wright, an uncle; David Jackson, father of Louis; Carl Wright, Mrs. Louis Jackson, H. C. Laws, of Erie, who was employing Reynolds as an electrician on the new Pleasantville school building; Dr. Ernest A. Fogel, of the state hospital staff, who performed the autopsy on Reynolds, and Dr. William Cashman, of Warren, who was present at the autopsy.

Jackson will be represented at the inquest by Attorney E. H. Beshlin District Attorney J. H. Goldstein will represent the commonwealth.

MASONIC PICNIC AT YOUNGSVILLE IS SUCCESSFUL

Youngsville, July 19.—Despite a drizzling rain which started about six o'clock and continued most of the evening, the joint picnic of Joseph Warren Lodge, F. and A. M., of Warren, and Stillwater Lodge, of Sugar Grove, at Island Park here yesterday proved a great success. About 250 Masons, their families and friends attended.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and in addition to the bountiful supply of tureens brought by the picknickers, the committee in charge provided coffee and lemonade, ice cream and suckers for the youngsters.

Because of the rain, games were held indoors under the direction of Leo Gleese. These included events for both youngsters and adults. Among the more interesting were the potato relays, bag races, milk bottle and yard stick contest, and the nail driving contests.

The general chairmen of the picnic were Floyd Ahlquist, of Warren, and J. Gordon Clark, of Youngsville.

COURT UPHOLDS DISMISSAL OF OFFICIAL HERE

The dismissal of William P. Hawkes as manager of the Warren branch office of the Unemployment Compensation Board for engaging in political activity has been upheld by the State Superior Court, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Philadelphia today.

Hawkes was charged with coercing civil service employes under him to pay political assessments to the Warren County Democratic Committee during the 1938 gubernatorial campaign. Hawkes appealed his discharge.

The court said "condonation by the department, board, or the courts of such political activities as the testimony upon this record shows appellant (Hawkes) engaged in during a partisan political campaign, would tend to make a farce out of legislation under which he received his appointment."

MRS. SARAH E. DONAHEY

Sarah E. Donahey, widow of John W. Donahey, and a well known resident of Tiona, died at the Warren General Hospital on Friday morning. She was born at Shannondale on September 14, 1860. She was a member of the Clarendon Evangelical church and remained active in church work as long as her health permitted.

She is survived by the following children: Mrs. E. L. Meddock, Mrs. Belle Smith, Mrs. H. R. Hetrick and Everett Donahey, of Clarendon; Guy Donahey, of Tiona; Wesley Donahey, of Columbus, O., and Claude Donahey, of Hornell, N. Y.; also 27 grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren.

Removal was made to the Peterson Funeral Home, where friends may call and from where a prayer service will be held at 12:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon by Rev. A. G. Meade. Funeral services will follow in the Donahey Hill United Brethren church, with interment in the Donahey Hill cemetery.

MRS. NATHANIEL LOREE

Mrs. Nathaniel Loree, lifelong resident of this county, passed away at 12:55 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Grosch, 100 East St. Clair street. She was born July 13, 1863, at Yankee Bush and for the past several years had made her home with another daughter, Olive L. Wilson, 315 Union street. On July 7, this year, she had the misfortune to fall and fracture her hip, never recovering from the shock and injuries.

Besides these children, she leaves the following: Gilbert and Ralph Loree, of Warren; Mrs. Robert Ostergard, Strathroy, Ontario; Mrs. Grace Hinsdale, Erie; Lyle L. Loree, of Reno, Nev.; also two sisters, Mrs. Belle Perkins, of Ripley, N. Y., and Mrs. Anna Siggins, of Tulsa, Okla.; twelve grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. Her husband preceded her in death on May 27, 1935, and a daughter, Mrs. Edith Songer, in April, 1921.

She was a member of the First Baptist church and of the Conewango Heights W. C. T. U.

Funeral services will be held at three o'clock Sunday afternoon at the Peterson Funeral Home, where friends may call. Rev. J. A. Davidson will officiate and interment will be made in the Yankee Bush cemetery.

MRS. G. V. DEGOLYER

Etta May DeGolyer, wife of George V. DeGolyer, passed away at her home in Weldbank about 4:30 o'clock this morning, following an illness of several months. She was born on June 20, 1881, at Cherrytree, Indiana county, and had resided in Weldbank one year and one day. She attended the Watson Evangelical church and Sunday school as long as her health permitted.

Besides her husband, she leaves three children, Mrs. H. R. Nelson and George DeGolyer, of Erie, and Clark DeGolyer, of Weldbank; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild; her father, P. J. Stahl, and one sister, Mrs. William Plubell, of Ludlow, and one brother, C. R. Stahl, of Hallton.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Borden Funeral Home in Sheffield, where friends may call at any time. Rev. A. G. Meade will officiate and interment will be made in the Barnes cemetery.

PLAN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION FOR STUDENTS HERE

At a meeting held at the Y. W. C. A. activities building last evening, 20 representatives of local religious groups, Catholic, Hebrew and Protestant, organized the Warren Council of Weekday Religious Education.

Officers elected were: President, Rev. James A. Davidson; vice president, Father Edward Jacobs; secretary, Mrs. Guy F. McCloskey; treasurer, Ralph E. Sires.

The purpose of the council is to assume responsibility, in cooperation with the borough school board, for the religious education of high school students in grades 9, 10, 11 and 12. A plan is now being formulated by which students of the four last grades of school who elect religious education would be released from the high school one hour a week to go to their respective churches for a definitely organized course of religious instruction. One-half credit per semester would be given for satisfactory work in these classes and attendance at two regular church functions.

This plan is not original in Warren, over 400 communities in the United States, including Pittsburgh and Oil City, having such a project at work. Churchmen and educators, alike, pronounce the movement one of the most significant in many decades.

The Warren Council, working in closest cooperation with the board of education, proposes to begin its program in September. Many details of the plan are yet to be worked out by the school board and council.

COUNTY SCOUTS BEING TRAINED TO BE PREPARED

Preparedness for emergency service is the keynote of the program of the Boy Scouts of the Warren county council in their summer camp now in operation at Camp Olmsted on the Allegheny river. Upon arrival in camp this week Scouts received instruction in pitching different types of tents, proper ditching and camp construction with an eye toward doing this job for others in times of emergency. As in a real disaster cooking stoves and other essential equipment was made from materials at hand. They are receiving also instruction in making water rescues and this instruction is being administered even to those who have not yet learned to swim.

The Scouts are being trained in health practices which are necessary in large groups and are learning to prepare food and how to sterilize cooking and eating equipment.

The test of all the training and practice comes as the boys live in the shelters which they erect, cook from the stoves they make and eat the food they prepare.

The whole program is being carried on under the leadership of the troop leaders in camp and a trained adult camp staff of eight men. Four troops totalling eighty-four boys and men are engaged in the program this week and it is estimated that when the season ends August 13 that 400 Scouts from twenty-seven troops will have received emergency service training.

IS ELECTROCUTED

While sweeping in the electric department of the American Viscose plant at Meadville, Harold E. Willey, 25, of near Guys Mills, an electrician's helper, brushed against a 6,600 volt line and was killed. Deputy Coroner J. A. Mancuso said Willey had been dead 18 to 24 hours and that several hundred employes passed close to his body without seeing him. The accident occurred behind a screen.

PURSE RECOVERED

A Warren woman was made very happy yesterday afternoon when two South Side boys returned a purse which she had lost a short time before. The purse, containing money and valuable papers, and owned by Mrs. Laura Messerly, Oneida avenue, was found and taken to the police station by Richard Munch, 316 United avenue, and Richard Scalise, 412 Crescent Park.

REMAINS IN BANK

Federal Judge R. M. Gibson has denied the Silver State Securities Company of Nevada a new trial in its suit to obtain $789,425 which Mrs. Minnie E. Splane, formerly of Oil City, kept in the Oil City Trust Company. The Nevada concern claimed Mrs. Splane assigned the funds to it when she became one of its incorporators. The court has ordered the money turned over to Mrs. Splane's guardian, the Farmers and Merchants National Bank of Los Angeles.

FRACTURED ARM

George Phillips, 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Phillips, 1009 Madison avenue, was treated at the Warren General Hospital this morning for a fracture of the left arm, sustained last evening when he fell from the porch at his home. He was discharged from the hospital after treatment.

CAR BADLY DAMAGED

The car of Martin Stiller, St. Louis, Mo., was damaged to the extent of an estimated $450 late last night it was reported by state motor police when it left the Tidioute road, went into a ditch, and finally struck a culvert which threw the car back on to the road where it landed upside down. Stiller was not injured.

LOW BIDDER

The Department of Highways in Harrisburg today received 33 bids on ten projects calling for the improvement of 22.32 miles of road and bridges, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Among the projects is one in Warren county on route 388 in Sugar Grove borough and township for 2.24 miles of resurfacing between Sugar Grove and the New York state line. The low bidder on this project was Earl M. Brown, of Clearfield, whose bid was $24,254.

With Our Boys at Indiantown Gap

By Special Correspondence

Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, July 19—I start my column this time by saying we sure are having a time down here. By this I mean that things are really in a rush because of the combat problems we are working on every day. I will explain in later paragraphs just exactly what has taken place between my last letter to you and the one which I am now writing.

Wednesday was a very good day for the men as they had a half holiday in a sense of the word. The men did not have to go out to drill in the afternoon and were given the time to sort of clean up the small jobs that still remained to be done around the barracks and also to wash clothes and all of our web equipment which consists of packs, cartridge belts, canteen covers, etc. However, this morning an imaginary riot was taking place in the 112th Infantry area and the various organizations of the 112th were to come in and quell the disturbance. Company I moved into the area at approximately 10:30 a. m. and were ordered to mop up any straggiers of the mob who might be hiding within the area. Squads were then designated by the company commander and each squad took a certain sector of the area and began their police of the grounds with fixed bayonets and rifles ready for the slightest kind of a disturbance. There were several cooks and such men as are detailed to stay in the camp that found out when the boys said move they really meant it and did so without having to be told a second time. It really was a very instructive thing for the men as we haven't had very much of this sort of fighting. Street fighting is considered one of the most dangerous kinds of warfare due to the fact that the enemy has such splendid cover for snipers and machine-gun nests. However, there is going to be a lot of this type of work in the way they fight nowadays and we intend to be up on every little detail if the time ever comes when we have to use it.

Tuesday was a day of activity we shall not forget for quite some time due to the fact that we had a maneuver in the morning and were on the defense, and one in the afternoon and were on the attack. The morning program went along something in this order:

All of the various organizations marched out to the battalion training area and were given their various missions of which "I" Company was to be a part of the main line of resistance. Upon taking up our position we proceeded to wait for the enemy to attack. It wasn't long before we saw them coming and they gained fire power on us and we had to withdraw from our first position to a more secure one where we made our final stand. A smoke screen was laid and the men had to don gas masks while attacking us through it and they really had quite a time of it but they were successful in their attack and we were quite the loser for a while, but it wound up that we held our ground as well as could be expected under the conditions.

The afternoon of the same day saw the company in the attack and it would really do your heart good to see the deftness which the men use in plying the trade that they have taken to so well. We moved into position and were to remain there until our reconnaissance patrols which were sent out to gain the information, which is so vitally important to the attack, returned. After the return of these patrols three combat patrols were made up and we moved forward to the attack. Upon reaching the enemy we were immediately subject to heavy fire from machine-gun and rifle fire so we had to go into a defensive position until our other patrol could get up behind the enemy and wipe out their machine-gun.

After this was done the prize incident of the day occurred. Sgt. Harold Kays and Corporal Edward Fitzgerald were advancing in front of the patrol when out popped a lone rifleman who exclaimed, "O. K. you fellows come out of there, you're prisoners."

Well, this was almost too much for the mighty Sgt. Kays to take so he yelled out, "What do you mean? we've had you and your machine-gunners wiped out for at least 10 minutes."

Upon hearing this the remainder of the patrol of which I was a member thought they had better go around to the rear of this fellow and show him just how dead he would have been had he been an enemy. (I should say a genuine enemy.) We came out of the woods just behind him so suddenly he really didn't know what to say or do and just stood there. Well, it was so funny that the umpire stood there and couldn't figure out whether to laugh at the way it happened or to get angry at the fellow for not knowing what to do. Anyway in the end it all turned out that we won the battle and everyone was happy. However, we did not win it as easy as all that just after this crazy incident there was a gas attack which was put on by the enemy and it turned out to be real tear gas and believe me if you don't think that stuff burns and smarts the eyes and makes you cough, just ask Sgt. Arthurs who really got a good shot of it. Well, this is about all there is to this day's battle so I will endeavor to give you some other sort of news for a while.

Today was one of rejoicing due to the fact that Lt. Russell J. Kelley returned to the camp after having been gone for three months. He was on detached service at Ft. Benning, Ga., where he was studying the use and tactics of the heavy weapons of a rifle company. As you know from previous letters, every company has one platoon which is called the weapons platoon and this consists of a machine gun section and a mortar section. Lt. Kelley is the leader of this platoon and we are sure that after his schooling at Ft. Benning he will be a very capable leader for this section of our organization.

We still have no draftees but we are waiting patiently for them and hope to get them sometime this week.

Private William Hulings of this company is without a doubt one of the most spirited men I have ever seen when it comes to simulating that we are really at war with the men whom we fight against in our mock battles. The other day when we made an attack our rifles were all in ordinance for inspection so we therefore had to go in the field without any kind of weapons. Hulings was making a charge up quite a steep knoll when out pops an enemy soldier. Nothing to do, Pvt. Hulings picked up a club about six feet long and started to wield it over his head shouting come and get it. Well you can imagine how you would feel having some one coming at you with a club of that size and acting like he really meant it. The boy who was the enemy soldier did not try to advance any further and was soon as calm as could be expected.

This being about all I can think of at the present time I will close my column for now and endeavor to write more in my next one. So, until then, I remain yours truly, the Company I correspondent for the Warren Times-Mirror.

HEARTBREAK HONEYMOON

by WATSON

YESTERDAY: Henry Pell had nothing to do with the fact that when he went to Chicago on a business trip, Marie Mason followed him. Marie is determined that Henry shall abandon the real estate business for radio, and his wife Luella Pell, for Marie Mason. And Henry, dazzled by New York and fine prospects, doesn't quite know what he wants to do.

Chapter 21

No Luella

HENRY looked in the kitchenette. Luella wasn't there. He looked in the bedroom. Everything in its place. Clean, neat, tidy, like the living-room. But still no Luella. He took his suitcase over to the bed and dropped it there. No doubt Luella was out doing her marketing for the week-end. She liked to get things in before the stores and markets got too crowded, as they usually were on Saturdays. Home Overnight from Chicago, and no wife to greet him. Then, feeling guilty, he asked himself if he really deserved to be met. There was no answer.

He drew a deep breath. He began to be glad that Luella wasn't at home. He would have time to sort of collect himself. He walked over to Luella's little desk to look for a book of matches. It was then that he saw the envelope. It was addressed to him in Luella's handwriting. He picked it up, tore it open, and took out the sheet of note-paper. There weren't many words on it, but they told a whole story.

"Henry," they said. "I've gone home. I'm terribly sorry you were not honest with me about the trip to Chicago.
Luella."

He read the words over and over, and then stood staring at the paper. He remembered something Marie had said. "I know Luella better than you do. . . . She'll slip quietly away and weep." And that's just exactly what little Luella had done. She had slipped off alone—gone back down home—to weep. Alone in the little cottage her aunt had left her.

Henry felt sick, shaken. He didn't know which way to turn, what to do. And what sickened him more than anything else was the fact that he wasn't sure he wanted Luella back!

The telephone bell began ringing. It startled him. Still holding Luella's note, he went into the living room to answer it.

"Hello?" he said.

"Oh, Henry!" said a feminine voice. "Thank God, I've found you at last. . . . This is Marie. You must get in touch with Rector and Everett at once. . . . That Latham woman is—"

"But, Marie, I've just gotten in. I haven't even had time to take off my coat."

"Don't take it off! . . . That Latham female is going to land that radio job if you don't show up and display some interest. . . . Hurry, hurry." Marie's voice rose to a high pitch. "You promised me you'd be back Wednesday, and here it is Saturday! . . Oh, Henry, how could you?"

"It was impossible to get away any sooner," Henry said. "I tried, but—"

"Tell me all the excuses later," Marie cut in. "There isn't time now."

"All right," Henry said. "I'll grab a taxicab and get down to Rector's office immediately."

"You must, Henry—you must. I'll be simply heartbroken if you don't get there in time."

Two receivers clicked back into their hooks.

Henry stood perfectly still for several seconds, feeling numb, like one whose limbs had turned to water. Then, suddenly catching up his hat, he hurried out. He couldn't stay in the place a moment longer. It was almost as though someone had died there.

No New Job

AS SOON as he reached Rockefeller Center, Henry lost no time in taking the elevator to the thirty-eighth floor where the Rector-Everett offices were located. Going after a job at any time was not easy, but going after a job only a few minutes after you have discovered that your wife has walked out and left you was something that took backbone. Henry hoped his backbone would bear up under the strain!

"Mr. Pell to see Mr. Rector," he said to the receptionist.

"Just a moment, Mr. Pell," said the girl. She spoke over the telephone, and then turned back to Henry. "All right, Mr. Pell, you may go in."

Henry went through a door marked "Private." Malcolm Rector was sitting behind an expensive desk in a highly-modernistic office. He looked up and smiled.

"Well, well!" he said. "Where've you been keeping yourself, Pell?"

"The firm sent me out to Chicago," Henry answered. "I'm sorry I've not been able to come in sooner. But, here I am now, and I'm hoping you've got good news for me. About the job, you know."

"Oh, yes, about the job," said Rector somewhat vaguely. He cleared his throat, fiddled with a letter-opener. "Well, as you know, it's been more or less uncertain all along."

"Yes, I realize that," said Henry. "However, I understood that if you had an opening you would consider me. It's about that I'm here now."

"I see." More fiddling with the letter-opener, another clearing of the throat. "As a matter of fact, Pell, we did consider you — we thought we would take you in, should an opening occur. However, it seems that a majority of the firm members preferred someone else."

"You mean the place has been filled?"

"Yes. It was all settled an hour or so ago."

For a moment Henry stood silent, feeling the oddest sort of mixture of emotions—disappointment, relief, numbness.

"Then there's no place for me—at all? he asked finally.

"I'm afraid not, Pell," said Rector. "Not at the moment anyway. But we want you to keep on sending us songs, the sort of things you've done for Miss Mason—songs with a native air."

"I suppose you gave the position to Miss Latham," said Henry. "I heard she was being considered for it."

"As a matter of fact, we did give it to Alma," Rector said. "She has a pretty fine business background, as well as a knack for writing radio material. She's given us three outstanding sketches, and promises to give us more."

Henry stood irresolute for a second or so. He was thinking of all the evenings he had neglected Luella for Marie and the songs, and the endless talks about his future in radio.

And now Luella was gone, there was no future for him in radio, and he had to face Marie sooner or later. She would naturally be waiting to hear the result of his interview with Malcolm Rector. He hoped she wouldn't be too disappointed, wouldn't make a scene. Scenes. He was sick of them. Women. Darned if he wasn't sick of them also.

"Well," he said finally, "that's that!"

"You mustn't feel too badly," Rector said.

"Oh, I'll bear up. I've still got my realty job. That is a break!"

"As I told you," Rector said, "we'll always be glad to see any material suited for Marie. So keep us in mind."

"Thanks." At the moment Henry felt as though he would never again work on a song—not if he lived to be one hundred years old. "Reckon I'd better stick to my knitting," he grinned, "as the saying goes. Or, shoemaker to his last if you get my meaning." Then suddenly he realized that he was guilty of voicing a couple of old adages, guilty of doing the very thing he had criticized Luella for doing. "So long, Mr. Rector, and thanks for thinking of me."

Alma

"GOOD luck to you, my boy," Rector responded. He shook Henry's hand warmly, and as he did so Henry had the feeling that the man was tremendously relieved to have the interview come to an end.

"We'll continue to see each other socially, I trust. I'd welcome another of your mint julips some evening. Besides, I hear from Tommy McIntyre and Marie Mason that Mrs. Pell is a wonderful cook." He smiled. "We old bachelors like a home-cooked meal occasionally. . . . Not a very subtle hint, I'll admit—but there it is!"

"Yes," said Henry, "Mrs. Pell was—is a wonderful cook."

And then he went out. He stood in the hall just outside the office door for a time, trying to collect his thoughts. Rector suggesting that he be invited to dinner—a dinner Luella had cooked—and no Luella to cook it.

Just then Alma Latham came along the hall, having just gotten out of the elevator. She was resplendent in a new autumn ensemble. Her eyes sparkled. She had the look of one who has just reached the top of the ladder of success—or one who is now sitting on top of the world.

"Hello!" she greeted.

"Hello, yourself!" said Henry.

"Were you in to see Malcolm?"

"I was."

"Then he's in his office?"

"He is."

"Thanks. . . . I'll go right in."

"I've heard the news."

"About the job?"

"Yes."

"No hard feelings, I hope?"

"Oh, no! May the best man win—always. . . . I hope you make good, and become famous over night."

"Thanks!" said Alma. "That's very sporting of you."

"Not at all. . . . You'd have wished me well, wouldn't you, if I'd got the job?"

"Naturally."

"I thought so."

"You're disappointed, I know," Alma went on. "And I'm sorry. But I'm sure your wife will be glad to hear that you are to go on with the realty company."

"Yes? What made you think that?"

"Just being like I am—a little psychic. I'd hate to see her home broken up, because she's a really fine girl."

"Thanks," said Henry. "But her home's already broken up."

Peanuts, Popcorn, Defense Stamps!

From now on the whistle on Steve Vassilakos' peanuts and popcorn wagon will tootle for national defense (without salt). Steve, veteran White House vendor for 30 years, purchases Defense Savings Stamps from Charlotte Weikinger at the Treasury house to add to his circusy stock.

SUMMER SCHOOL OF EVANGELICAL CHURCHES HELD

Members and friends of Evangelical churches throughout this section are interested in plans for the program of summer meetings arranged by the Pittsburgh Conference at Arbutus Park at Johnstown.

Summer school and leadership training classes were held this week, concluding today. Next week, there will be missionary institute on Monday and Tuesday and Bible conference through Friday, followed by camp meeting from July 25 to August 3.

Rev. S. R. Schieb, of Salem church, and Rev. J. C. Wygant, of First church, will spend next week at the park. The former is one of the conference examiners and will give examinations during the week.

Highlights of the two-day missionary gathering will be addresses by Rev. N. J. Deckinger, on furlough from mission fields in Japan.

Among speakers engaged for the Bible conference program are Dr. Raymond W. Albright, instructor in the School of Theology at Reading, and Dr. Ralph W. Key, minister of the Harlem Presbyterian church in New York City.

Other names of interest noted on the program are Rev. H. W. Kaebnick, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district; Rev. E. L. Nicely, superintendent of the Johnstown district; Rev. R. L. Fassinger, and Rev. R. S. Shirey, former Warren ministers.

For the camp meeting period, under the supervision of Rev. Sidney V. Carmany, president of the Arbutus Park Campmeeting Association, the evangelist will be Rev. James W. Davis, pastor of the Evangelical church at Terre Haute, Ind. The Harmony Gospel team will provide special music.

FOREST COUNTY FARMERS PLAN ANNUAL OUTING

Arrangements have been completed by the Forest county farm tour committee for a trek that will take participants to a number of points of interest next week.

The party will assemble in front of the county court house at Tionesta at eight o'clock in the morning and will visit in turn the following places:

John Boleratz farm near Union City to see a potato sprayer mounted on tractor in operation; Keystone Cooperative Grape Growers Association at North East, for cherry processing; home of Mrs. C. B. Selter, to view a remodeled kitchen; Brook Farm, to see the highest producing Guernsey herd in Erie county; Peninsula Park for a picnic dinner; P. J. Paine farm, cold storage project; Willow Brook farm, to see Berkshire hogs, cherries, apples, grapes, asparagus and latest irrigation system in operation.

Persons of this section interested in joining the Forest county touring party are asked to be at the court house at the above hour.

CHURCH GROUP AT YOUNGSVILLE ENJOYS OUTING

Youngsville, July 18—About 40 members and friends of the Dorcas Class of the Methodist church school went to Jamestown Thursday and enjoyed a cooperative dinner with Mrs. Florence Chrispell, 410 Lakeview avenue, with her daughters and a few other Jamestown friends. These included the former Methodist pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Chas. Reed, now located at the Brooklyn Heights church of that city.

A bountiful dinner was enjoyed, with tables placed in the house and on the porches. Following dinner, a business session was held with Mrs. Young presiding. Plans were considered for other activities during the summer. A silver bake sale collection was taken, the money to be used for church needs.

At the social hour Mrs. Kenneth Chrispell presided at the piano and the guests enjoyed instrumental music as well as favorite songs. Mrs. Dwight Jack sang several solos and Mrs. Ralph Mead assisted with music.

HONOR COMING BRIDE

Mrs. Aubrey Briggs entertained Wednesday evening at her home on High street in honor of Miss Naomi McDowell, whose engagement has been announced. A two course luncheon was served with a color scheme of pink and white. Covers were laid for eighteen. Miss McDowell was given a shower of useful and pretty things for the kitchen in the new home. One of the forms of entertainment was the hemming of tea towles. Games were also featured.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. John Gruen, of Pittsburgh, are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sitler.

Mrs. R. R. Merrill and son, Robert, are spending the summer at Edinboro, where Mrs. Merrill is doing college work.

About 30 local people attended the illustrated travel lecture in the Garland Methodist church Tuesday evening.

Mrs. L. L. Russell is spending the balance of the summer in Youngsville in her own home. She had been away for some time earlier in the season.

Miss Mina Wingard underwent a tonsil operation in the Warren General Hospital Saturday.

Mrs. Wilson returned Thursday after spending a few days with Mrs. Florence Chrispell in Jamestown, N. Y.

Mrs. Charles Henry is in Pittsburgh this week, visiting her daughter, who is having treatment there.

The rate of motor vehicle fatalities this year is the highest since 1937, when just short of 40,000 persons in the nUited States lost their lives in motor mishaps.

UNCLE SAM WANTS ALUMINUM SCRAP

The week of July 21 to 28 has been set aside throughout the nation for the collecting of unwanted aluminum, and citizens of Warren county are reminded that the intensive drive here will be on Friday and Saturday, July 25 and 26.

It has been well stated by William Knudsen, Director General of the Office of Production Management that aluminum is sorely needed for plane production.

The appeal is made in a patriotic sense in the hope that all America will respond and by their contributions give something vital to the matter of national defense, without having to pay out any money to make such a contribution.

If you have any aluminum in your household that can be spared without necessity of having it replaced, the local committee will very much appreciate your donations toward the national cause.

Pots and pans can be transformed into planes that will assist the Army and Navy to afford greater protection to our nation—and in that alone, no greater appeal can be made to your patriotic instincts.

The local "bin" for receipt of aluminum scrap will be erected near the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument the first of the week. In the meantime, watch the columns of this paper for further information on the plans for the Warren county drive.

HINTS FOR GIRLS ON VISITING SOLDIERS

Many a girl will spend her vacation this year visiting some young man at a distant army camp—some of them in the hope of making a little headway toward marriage.

Ruth Millett, author of the column "We, the Women," suggests the smart girl will remember these do's and don'ts:

She'll let her young man know in advance when she plans to arrive. Surprises aren't always appreciated.

She won't give other soldiers cause for saying "Say, your girl sure is crazy about you." She'll soft pedal that possessive arm-clinging stuff in favor of a little more dignity.

If she has any brains at all she won't flirt with all her young man's friends, though she will be friendly and charming to them.

Certainly she won't make the mistake of letting any of them know that she already knows about the promotion her friend just received—for he is sure not to want them to know he wrote her a bragging letter.

If she has a car with her, she'll see that it is filled with gas before she picks up her young man—army pay being what it is.

If her young man is a private she won't go around talking about how handsome the officers look in their uniforms. It would be like his telling her how gorgeous Doris Duke looks in her diamonds.

She'll be smart enough, of course, not to over-stay her welcome, but to leave while her young man is still begging her to stay on.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

"CAN CHRISTIANS REJOICE NOW?"

PAUL ACKERT
Warren

"We also rejoice in our tribulations123561234564-).'½1264)3.-52 ". . . We also rejoice in our tribulations . . ."—Romans 5:13.

It need not be only for religious reasons that we rejoice in tribulation. Any suffering that is a sure means to a pleasant result can be thankfully endured. Governments may be accused of instigating wars, but the people fight and sacrifice, partly at least, in the hope of the fruits of victory. When these are denied or frustrated, the country faces the inevitable choice of revolt or resignation.

The letter to the Romans, then, seems at first sight to give voice to a common, world phenomenon. But to believe this would be to take the text out of its context—which then becomes a pretext. The writer to the Romans is speaking definitely of one kind of tribulation, and that is the suffering which comes from living one's life according to his religious beliefs. Now that a war psychology is again saturating the thinking of peoples with emotional excesses, illogical hypotheses, and intolerant, fallacious standards, it is once more dangerous to live according to religious beliefs.

A true disciple of Christ does more than endure tribulation—he rejoices in it, as the apostle says. The non-disciple would say, "Avoid tribulation; sidestep it if possible, but avoid the issue." Not so the disciple! "Welcome it," he says, "grapple with it, as Jacob did with the angel, and overcome it, for you are with God."

That this may be done: first, the person must himself have the triumphant faith; second, the church much express socially this faith in its own structure and its work; third, both the person and the church must assume responsibility for its Christian belief to the fullness of suffering. Else why the Cross? What other raison d'etre does Christianity have for the person and his world?

The world is proud, and rightly so, for its painters, poets and composers who have lived in squalor and poverty, and have rejoiced to suffer for their art. This is a noble approach to the joy that a man can know because of his persecutions for his divine faith. Faith in his art makes the artist; faith in Christ makes the Christian. "Rejoice and be exceeding glad" is both a challenge and a promise to those who venture the faith.

PRAYER: Our Father, who alone canst turn trouble into a maker of true joy, be more powerfully present with us, that we may find Thee surely, though trial and trouble do beset us. Teach us how to live, both with Thee, and with our fellowmen, in the spirit of reconciliation, that we all may be one. Amen.

Midsummer Night's Dream

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 19—A major argument is developing in Washington over the prediction of Donald M. Nelson, director of purchases in the Office of Production Management, that "before this effort is over, there will be a shortage of food."

If British demands increase, if Russia destroys her grain fields, if Europe goes into a period of famine and must be fed for several years by the Americans, then maybe the prediction might come true. But no one can see that far ahead, and in the meantime, all the other food supply experts are denying vehemently that there are any shortages in sight.

What these other food men fear most is the unwarranted talk of shortages may send wholesalers into the market to stock up with reserves, thereby creating an artificial food shortage and higher prices.

Extra demands on the U. S. food supplies have been tremendous. The total food bill for 1941 has been estimated at $15 billion, which is 25 per cent or $3 billion more than the food bill for 1940.

That increase represents not just higher prices, but increased quantities—for the British, for the Army, for relief and for extra sales just because payrolls are higher and consumption greater. Up to a certain level, the more you make, the more you eat. Also, the more you eat the more it costs you.

You might think the increased size of the Army and Navy would mean a million or more eaters had merely been transferred from the civilian to the military tables, but it doesn't work that way. Take eggs. Army menus call for eggs at six out of seven breakfasts, or 50 per cent more eggs than these same men would eat if they were in civilian life. Take salads. Army menus call for a salad a day with uncooked vegetables. That's a lot more salads than you could make most men eat if they were at home.

Foor for Britain and other countries makes a sizeable extra demand. Up to the last report of lease-lend administration, June 1, nearly $52 million had been allocated for these British food purchases. Approximately $32 million went for poultry and dairy products, $6 million for meat, $6 million for fruits and vegetables, $3 million for cereals, and $3.5 million for lard and $1.5 million for miscellaneous items. Total food purchases for foreign countries may run to $400 million next year.

Surplus Marketing Administration has been doing most of the extra buying and its operations will probably equal if not surpass food purchases for Army and Navy, which are estimated to total $300 million for the year.

There is little evidence of these two biggest buyers not working in the closest of harmony. SMA does a good bit of distress buying to support lagging prices. Naturally, it can't announce in advance that it is going to buy a million cases of canned tomatoes, or the price would immediately rise. The OPM purchasing division is also a canny buyer, and watches the market for surpluses and distress prices.

SMA's purchases reach astounding totals in some categories. From March 15 to July 12, SMA has bought, for example, 156 million pounds of lard, 41 million pounds of dried and frozen eggs, 42 million pounds of cheese, 150 million pounds of pork, 122 million pounds of dried prunes, 172 million pounds of dried beans, 42 million pounds of cheese and so on.

Anyway you look at it, there are no immediate shortages in sight for the average dining room table. Grains are available in surplus. Beef and lamb supplies are reported adequate. Pork may be temporarily short in the fall and winter. Hens were never more cooperative and the egg and poultry supplies are breaking all time production records. Early spring demands for more vegetables have been responsible for an estimated 20 per cent increase in truck patch acreage. Dairy products may in time be a little shy for, like a machine tool, it seems to take two years to manufacture a cow that will give milk.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921

It was reported on the streets today that another well known citizen is to announce for the Republican nomination for tax collector. If the rumor is confirmed it will make six candidates in the field. The race promises to make the September primary the most exciting in years.

The Conewango Building and Loan Association has elected the following officers: President, J. M. Siegfried; vice president, F. M. Knapp; secretary, A. Mintzer; treasurer, Dr. O. S. Brown; attorney, W. S. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fraring and children, Bertha and Eugene, leave Sunday night for New York, from where they will sail Tuesday for Alsace-Lorraine to visit relatives and friends.

After being shoved aside for other entertainment for the past ten years, quoits is again becoming a popular recreation and contest in Warren again.

A special train will be run over the Pennsy railroad Saturday night containing a large number of race horses and the paraphernalia for the race meet to be held at the Fair Grounds here next week.

Blackberries will be so plentiful this season that auto parties may fill their pails from their cars as they drive through the patches.

Negotiations were concluded today whereby the Emblem Oil Company acquires from Dr. O. S. Brown property on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, east of Water street. The company plans to erect an up-to-date service station, the second in the borough.

Twelve women of the Conewango Valley Country Club participated in a triangular meet at Erie yesterday with the Wanango and Kahkwa club players. Mrs. Gail Hamilton's 95 placed her among those winning low gross awards.

Thursday evening Dinsmoor-Schwing Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary members will go to Barnes to the home of Mrs. Ida Wagner, Gold Star Mother, for a picnic.

At present Rabbit Swanson is leading hitter of the Warren Pennsylvanians with an average of .381, while Art Johnson, left-handed flinger, comes next with .355.

These are busy days for members of Company I, Pennsylvania National Guard, which will leave Friday for Mount Gretna for the annual two weeks' encampment.

Robert Kinander, who is spending the summer at Chautauqua Institution, was here for a visit yesterday.

The British home guard is reported to number 1,750,000 men.

Fruit Growing Is Vital To U. S. Defense Effort

LONDON reports cotton-packed peaches are selling for approximately $1 each, showing what war does to prices, especially in a country not self-sustaining.

United States has a surplus of foods—insurance against food shortages and ersatz diets. As early as 1913 U. S. postal authorities recognized philatelically the importance of fruit growing with the $1 parcel post stamp above.

Food is as vital to national defense as guns. The Army needs it to keep in fighting trim; civilians need it to maintain morale.

Apples, oranges, lemons and grapefruit are plentiful in America. Their importance and value cannot be overlooked.

U. S. annual apple crop averages 121,755 bushels. Oranges approximate 78,000,000 boxes, grapefruit 43,000,000 boxes and lemons 11,000,000 boxes.

There are 33 bones in the spinal column at birth but only 26 when we grow up.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Congressmen and a good many other government officials have their noses to the defense grindstone, but, like little boys in school when they hear the first notes of the circus calliope, they are casting eyes out the window.

In the case of Congress, et al., the glance is toward Texas and what they are wondering is will Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, newly elected senator (to fill the seat of the late Sen. Morris Sheppard) try to play the same topsy-turvy with national politics that he has as two-time governor of his state.

About three years ago, a comparatively unknown flour man who never had held public office jumped into the Texas political arena with both feet; a six-piece "hill-billy" orchestra; a wife, daughter and two sons who campaigned with him; a sound truck and frequent radio programs.

He announced his platform was the Ten Commandments and his motto, the Golden Rule. His political power was a $30-a-month pension for folks over 65, talk of economy and a lot more talk about "the professional politicians." But with that, he blasted his way into the governor's mansion at Austin.

Admitted His Failure

HIS inaugural was held in the University of Texas football stadium and the crowd was reported at 50,000. Two years later he ran again, using almost the same tactics, but adding to it the frank admission that he had been a failure and asking the people to keep him in office so he could whip the legislature and the "professional politicians" into line. Once more it was O'Daniel all the way.

Last month, by a margin so narrow (less than 1,100 votes) that it won't be official until another canvass is taken, chubby, grinning showman W. Lee O'Daniel won a U. S. senatorial toga.

If you still have any wonder that congress and the "professional politicians" of Washington have cocked a curious eye in the direction of Texas, let's turn the page and glimpse a little more of the picture.

When O'Daniel was inaugurated the second time, he tossed a gargantuan barbecue and searing on the coals, among other chunks of meat, was 2,000 pounds of buffalo that the governor had bagged himself on a southwest Texas ranch.

Claiming that he was treated unfairly by the press, the governor jumped toward the publishing game himself with "The W. Lee O'Daniel News," a 25-cent weekly, all profits from which were to go to the Red Cross.

March On Washington?

EVERY Sunday morning, the governor did a radio broadcast that reached every corner of the largest state. His "hilly billy" orchestra played hymns and the governor spoke.

Addicted to versification, O'Daniel has delivered portions of official speeches in rhyme.

A sizable part of his campaign for the Senate seat was reiterated promises to "twist the tails" of "pussyfooting professional politicians" in Washington.

There's talk now that he might make a triumphant barnstorming trip to Washington, his soundtruck and hill-billy band announcing his tour across the intervening states.

It won't be the first time that a political bombshell has come to Washington from a state office. Sometimes they develop into duds, smothered completely in the blanket of national and international affairs. Sometimes, they settle down to the quiet congressional life and spend their days hewing to the party line and mending political fences to keep all their votes in one pasture. Once in a while, however, they continue to explode with the same display of pyrotechnics they showed at home.

GRACEFUL SCALLOP-EDGED FROCK

PATTERN 4809

By Anne Adams

Give a "lift" to your mid-summer wardrobe with this bewitching afternoon frock by Anne Adams. Pattern 4809. Each front bodice panel makes one smooth piece as it gracefully curves into the pointed waistband—a lovely, slimming treatment. Tiny buttons sewn down the center seam add to the nice effect. The soft-cut sides of the bodice are held trim by darts at the shoulders and gathers at the waist. You'll like the gay, feminine touch of scalloped edges at the deep neckline and the short sleeves. Even the skirt has unusual style, with two panels in front and one in back. A charming, easy-to-make frock to wear with your best summer accessories for festive occasions!

Pattern 4809 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3⅛ yards 39 inch fabric.

Junior Recital At Warren Conservatory Is Very Pleasing

The piano recital given last evening in the Warren Conservatory of Music concert hall by Miss Lillian Louise Dornheim, of Beaver Falls, proved an outstanding junior presentation. Miss Dornheim formerly lived in Warren and was greeted by a large audience of friends.

Opening with the Bach "Solfeggietto", she showed a splendid technical control and beauty of tone and in the familiar Beethoven "Moonlight Sonata" she showed a rare asset, deliberation and repose. In her second group were two Mokrejs pieces, "In Lilac Time" and "Valcik in D Flat", the former judged one of the best performances of the season. Also in this group was "Enchanted Hour" by Hammerbacher, played with fine expression. The Friml "Valse Poetique" and Hahn's "Concert Polonaise" were both very satisfactorily played and in the final composition, Lecuona's "Malaguena", Miss Dornheim showed a skill and brilliancy seldom bettered among students.

As assisting artist of the evening, Miss Elizabeth Jayne, lyric soprano, displayed a lovely voice that is rich in quality, flexible and, at the same time full of color and artistic shading. She sang two groups, "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter, "A Brown Bird Singing" by Coates and an aria from "The Daughter of the Regiment" by Donizetti. Accompaniments were effectively played by Edith Haines Kuester.

BICYCLE HITS CAR

A car driven by Catherine Gillen, a nurse at the Warren General Hospital, was struck late yesterday afternoon by a bicycle on which two boys, Lee Hall, Pleasant township, and Richard Chapel, Crescent Park, were riding. Miss Gillen was stopped on the south approach to the Hickory street bridge, and the boys going southward struck the left rear fender of her car. Damage to the car was approximately five dollars; to the bicycle, four dollars. No one was injured.

CIVIL SERVICE

The Civil Service Commission announced today examinations for filling six grades of positions for Housing Management Supervisor. The salaries range from $2,600 to $6,500 a year and employment is in the Office of the Administrator, Defense Housing Division of the U. S. Housing Authority. A part of the required experience must have been in connection with housing projects or agencies, in real property management, in a program of public welfare requiring a knowledge of housing conditions, or as a city or county manager. The other prescribed experience may have been in these fields of housing, or in law, engineering, architecture, public administration accounting, or community work. Education may be substituted for some of this experience. Applications must be filed not later than August 14, 1941.

Another highly specialized examination announced by the Commission is for Project Auditor in the Quartermaster Corps, War Department. Salaries of the positions range from $2,600 to $5,600 a year. Applicants must have had as a part of the prescribed experience responsible administrative work in the direction and supervision of technical employees engaged in accounting and auditing on a large construction project. For some of the positions the experience need not have been in construction work. Study in accountancy may be substituted for part of the experience. Applications will be rated as received until further notice.

An examination for coal mine inspector for employment in the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, also has been announced. The salaries range from $2,600 to $4,600 a year. For some of these positions responsible experience in connection with safety-of-operation of coal mines is required. However, for other positions persons may qualify if they have had practical experience in coal mining which included some mine safety work. Applications will be rated as received until December 31, 1941.

The Commission also announced examinations for Assistant Inspector of Hulls and Assistant Inspector of Boilers, for employment in the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, Department of Commerce. The positions pay $3,200 a year. Applicants must have had experience on vessels of United States registry in any one of the following classes of service: Seaboard Ports, Great Lakes Ports, or Central Western River Ports, or on vessels of the U. S. Navy or Coast Guard. For these examinations applications must be filed not later than September 4, 1941.

For appointment in Washington, D. C., only the Commission has announced examinations for senior and junior blueprint operator and senior and junior photostat operator. The senior positions pay $1,440 and junior positions $1,260 a year. Appropriate experience is necessary for these positions. Applications will be rated as received until June 30, 1942.

All applications must be sent to the Washington office of the Civil Service Commission not later than the closing dates specified. Full information as to the requirements for these examinations, and application forms, may be obtained from W. U. McMichael, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first- or second-class post office.

munique was mention of the operations before Leningrad and Kiev to the north and south. The Soviet likewise was silent concerning Bessarabia.

The Soviet forces admittedly were suffering and inflicting very heavy casualties in the furious fighting along the broad marshy valleys of the Dnieper and Dvina river valleys to the west and northwest of Moscow.

The new area of heavy engagements developed yesterday about Nevel, on the northern flank of the Smolensk wedge where the Germans evidently were trying to gain elbow room. The Soviet command said that during the night similar fighting developed in the Bobruisk area on the southern side of the wedge.

(A dispatch from Istanbul, Turkey, quoting an Axis diplomat but recently arrived from the Soviet capital, declared a Russian army 4,000,000 strong is waiting behind Moscow, presumably ready to be thrown forward at the critical moment.)

The slowing tactics also were designed to permit the guerrilla armies roaming behind the German lines to get in their maximum blows, the newspaper indicated.

In addition furious engagements developed in a new sector, the Polotsk-Nevel area north of Smolensk salient.

Hard fighting was reported at Polotsk (which DNB, official German news agency(said had been captured) on Thursday, but Navel is a new scene of operations.

Departure of 12 junior officers and clerks of the U. S. embassy for Kazan was made known after Moscow had experienced a half-hour air raid alarm last night. No bombs were dropped.

Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and his principal assistants and attaches remained in Moscow, however.

Travelers arriving from Leningrad described that northern industrial center as a giant fortress in which factories, stores, newspapers, theaters and trains are functioning smoothly. The travelers said the guns of the nearby Kronstadt naval fortress are booming daily, but that cannonading from the land front has not yet been heard in the city. The only plane that attempted to bomb the city was shot down, it was said.

Illustrating the lightning character of the warfare on the vast front on which large, roaming bodies of tanks and trucks continually are surprising one another in terrific clashes, a Russian communique desbribed how a German tank regiment and a column of motorized infantry and artillery was wiped out.

Ex-Marine Guards is an organization of former United States Marines now engaged in guarding defense industries in the vicinity of Los Angeles, Calif.

COURT AFFIRMS WARREN COUNTY CASE DECISIONS

In opinions handed down in Philadelphia by the Pennsylvania Superior Court today, two Warren county common pleas court decisions were affirmed, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Principal of the two cases and one which will have much importance throughout the state was that of John Day vs. Warren county commissioners, in which the former sought to retain mortgagee's right of possession to property which had been purchased by the commissioners at tax sale.

It was explained by attorneys in the case here today that the holder of a mortgage on property retains right of possession without foreclosure until the mortgage is paid. Under an act of 1931, it was stated, all liens on property except mortgages were eliminated by tax sales.

It was stated that the commissioners here had purchased a property at tax sale on which Day held a mortgage and on which he had exercised his right of possession by placing a tenant there and collecting rent. At the end of the five-year redemption period, the commissioners sought to collect the rent from the tenant, thus taking over the right of possession although Day still held the mortgage. Day then sued to retain possession and the local court ruled that he had lost the right.

In affirming the local court's opinion, the superior court apparently was ruled that a mortgagee retains merely the bare right to a lien on the property and not the right of possession except by foreclosure, it was stated by one of the attorneys today. In order to foreclose on the mortgage, however, the mortgagee must pay all back taxes, it was pointed out.

County Solicitor Allison D. Wade represented the commissioners in this case, while R. Pierson Eaton was attorney for Day.

In the other case, the divorce granted Mrs. Doris Check Olson from Gail Olson was upheld. Mrs. Olson obtained the divorce last summer, charging indignities. Mr. Olson appealed on the grounds that insufficient evidence was presented. Mrs. Olson was represented by Attorney C. Henry Nicholson and Mr. Olson by Attorney Harold S. Hampson.

Barnes

Barnes, July 17—Mr. and Mrs. William Cohell, of Tidioute, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hover and Mrs. W. D. Barnes, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perry and son, of Burning Well, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Conquer, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Taylor were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ebling in Warren Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor, of Clearfield county, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Taylor, Sunday night. While in this vicinity they called on other relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. F. Barnes received the congratulations of her friends on the occasion of her seventy-eighth birthday Sunday.

Mrs. F. J. Titus entertained at a family dinner party Friday evening complimenting her mother's birthday. Mrs. Hover was very much surprised and was the recipient of lovely gifts.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Badger and daughter, Betty and Mrs. Helen Sargent arrived in town from Toledo, Ohio, Wednesday evening and are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Roberts.

Norman Spicer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Spicer, of Barnes, and Miss Juanita Stover, of Tiona, were united in marriage last Thursday evening by Justice of the Peace Edwin Anderson. They were unattended. They are making their home temporarily at the home of the groom's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sebring and family, who are now living in Erie, spent the week end at their home here in Barnes.

Miss Bette Titus accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Kay Moore, of Sheffield, to South Mountain, Saturday, where they spent the weekend visiting Lee Moore, who is a patient in the sanitarium there. Miss Titus will leave for Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Saturday, where she will spend her internship at City Hospital.

truck, although heavily loaded with oil, stopped within a short distance.

Coroner Ed C. Lowrey, who was called following the boy's death, permitted the body to be removed to the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home. It was not decided today whether there would be an inquest.

Connolly Songer was born in Warren, September 9, 1932, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Songer. He attended the North Warren school, where he was in the third grade.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother, Harry G. Songer, Jr., in the United States Navy, and one sister, Mrs. James Madden, of Warren. He also leaves his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Songer, of North Warren.

Removal will be made from the funeral home to the family home, 225 Jackson street, North Warren, late this evening. Friends may call there.

Funeral services will be held from St. Joseph's church on Monday morning at ten o'clock. Interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Cards Crowd Dodgers in National League With 6-1 Win

Pin Pennant Hopes On Southpaw Ernie White; Yanks Lose

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

A slim youngster named Ernie White, somewhat overlooked in the shuffle, is the pitcher on whom the St. Louis Cardinals are pinning their pennant hopes.

He not only is the ace of the Cards, He is the best lefthander in the National League, and he emphasized it by thumping the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-1, yesterday to split the senior circuit race wide open again.

The 24-year-old pride of Pacolet Mills, S. C., was the standout hurler in the American Association last year.

He won six of his first seven decisions this season. Then when he was just about to receive recognition alongside the Fellers, Wyatts, Riddles and the rest, he was knocked out of three straight games; the Cardinals lost five straight and the league lead.

What happened, says Manager Billy Southworth, is that White ate something that didn't agree with him on a hot Sunday, June 29, in Cincinnati. He couldn't finish the contest; he lost 13 pounds, and he went onto the Cards' sick list, which, for the season, reads just like the St. Louis roster.

But he looked and acted healthy yesterday in handcuffing the Dodgers. He allowed only six hits and became the first southpaw to beat Brooklyn twice this year.

As a result, St. Louis swept the two-game series and cut Brooklyn's lead to two games before heading for a week-end in Boston.

The New York Yankees, American League leaders, also were stopped yesterday as Bob Feller pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 victory for his 19th win against four defeats. However, this still left the Yanks with a six-game lead and a two-one edge in the three-game series, as well as nine victories in 13 encounters with the Indians for the season.

Rain and darkness halted play in the last of the eighth after a double by Oscar Grimes, a safe bunt by Ray Mack and a fielder's choice provided the deciding run in the seventh.

Joe DiMaggio, whose hitting streak was snapped at 56 games the night before, hit a bonafide single and also got credit for a double when Larry Rosenthal let a fly get away from him for New York's only run in the sixth. Feller gave six hits and fanned nine.

Lefty Grove failed a second time to nail down the 300th victory of his career as the Chicago White Sox nosed out the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, in 10 innings. Grove allowed seven hits, compared with the nine Boston collected off Johnny Rigney, but an error by Lou Finney let in the winning run.

Dutch Leonard's six-hit hurling helped the Washington Senators beat the Detroit Tigers, 8-1, with Rudy York's 18th home run accounting for Detroit's only score. Rain halted the game in the eighth.

Bob Johnson hit his 18th homer with two on in the ninth inning, to spur the Philadelphia Athletics to a 6-5 margin over the St. Louis Browns.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves divided a double-header in the only National League action outside Brooklyn. Ken Heintzelman pitched a four-hitter as the Pirates bagged the opener, 5-1. Three Pittsburgh pitchers allowed only six hits in the nightcap, but two singles following a walk in the ninth inning earned Boston a 4-3 edge.

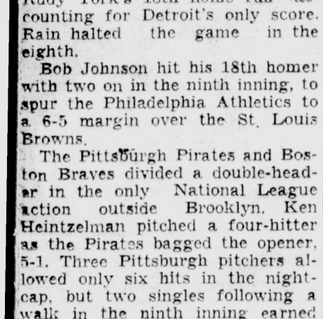

LACY FORFEITS

The West End softball team won a forfeit over Lacy in the playground senior league yesterday. With the victory, the West Side outfit maintained its place with South Street in leading the circuit with five victories apiece against one loss.

On July 2 the sun was at its farthest point from the earth, some 3,000,000 miles farther away than it was last January.

Factory sales of cars and trucks in the United States in April were estimated at 458,000 units.

THESE FIGURES LEAD SUMMER SPORTS PARADE

Joe DiMaggio, consecutive game hitting star, may take the triple batting crown.

Pauline Betz, indoor and clay court champion, is favored in the U. S. singles tournament.

History's fastest 400-meters: by Grover Klemmer, California University, in 46 seconds flat.

A glamour girl, Gloria Callen, is favored in national backstroke swimming competition.

Tall, dark Vic Ghezzi won golf's toughest tournament, the Professional Golfers' meet.

Mrs. Sarah Cooke, Eastern States tennis champ, is eyeing the National singles title.

HOGAN LEADING GOLF FIELD IN CHICAGO OPEN

Chicago, July 19—(AP)—Golf's 140-pound package of scoring dynamite—slender Ben Hogan—apparently is ready to blast out another big nugget from the game's gold field.

The little professional from Hershey, Pa., whose power oft the tee is a never-ending source of wonderment to the galleries—led the field as the $5,000 Chicago Open Championship headed into its second round at Elmhurst Country Club today. And from the way he put together a card of 33-33—66 yesterday there were few willing to wager he won't be in front when the 72-hole test winds up tomorrow.

Hogan's five under par performance made him a virtual cinch to finish in the money—within the first 15 places. Should he do this it will be a 51st straight tournament in which he has snared in the prize awards—the most remarkable streak the game ever has known. He led the money winnings last year and is far ahead in this campaign.

One stroke off the pace was Bud Williamson, Fort Wayne, Ind., pro, who had a card of 35-32—67. The remainder of the field, however, was well strung out. Jimmy Hines, Mike Turnesa, Tommy Armour and Johnny Bulla, all had 70's to work on, with the 71 players being Horton Smith, Denny Shute, amateurs John Barnum and Ellsworth Vines, Jim Farrier and Ernie Harrison.

The two big winners of the summer found the going rough. Craig Wood, National Open King, had a first round 73, while Vic Ghezzi, who took the PGA championship last Sunday, kited to a 78.

Bradford Fight Card To Be Held Tonight

The professional fight program being sponsored by the 28th Division Society, which was to have been held last night in Bradford, was postponed because of rain and, weath permitting, will be held tonight.

Six professional bouts were scheduled, four six-rounders as feature attractions, and two four-round preliminaries.

There will be no changes in the card tonight, the time for the first bout being 8:30, DST, and Tony Galento will be on hand to do the officiating.

Jallopy Races Will Be Resumed Sunday

Jamestown, N. Y., July 19.—Jallopy racing will be resumed at Satan's Bowl of Death, Big Tree-Sugar Grove Road, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The track will be treated with a special oil to reduce the dust condition.

Lloyd Moore of Frewsburg still leads the field in the point standing this season. Several new drivers from Jamestown and Warren, Pa., have entered tomorrow's races.

In addition to the elimination events, a fifteen-lap feature race is scheduled.

SPORT SPATTERINGS

Let's toss a couple of orchids today in various places. The first one goes right down the middle to Paul Rogers and Sam Savoia of the Eagles baseball club. Rogers, who has had aspirations of pitching since he was in high school, is getting a chance this summer to show his goods somewhat with the local sandlot combination. He and Savoia, capable receiving end of the Eagles' battery, did themselves and the team justice Thursday night at Ludlow, though they were victims of the Wildcats by a 3 to 0 score. "Whizzer", as Rogers was tagged in school, pushed the ball over the plate in fine fashion over the route, and was a victim of his own outfit's famine for hits when there were scoring opportunities, else he might easily have won. It's a little late this year for Paul to be effective, but the Marconi Club may tangle with the Eagles and show local ball fans some baseball yet. The two teams have met once, but neither had developed to full strength at that time. As for Savoia, he already has a tryout with the Pittsburgh Pirates behind him, and this season started with the Oil City Pirates, where the mother club farmed him out. But differences with the manager arose and Savoia was suspended indefinitely. It is hoped that he might get back into organized ball, for he's a smart catcher and dependable hitter who may in a few years be big time material.

Now we turn to the West Side diamond and those little softball struggles that have been entertaining some of Warren's ball fans, who have had a season such as we hope they'll never have to experience again. Except for the fast City softball loop, they wouldn't have had a bit of diamond entertainment. And there are lots and lots of the sporting public who haven't enjoyed their share of these twilight tilts that run Monday through Thursday of each week. The four entries, Elks, K. of C., Recreation Center and St. Joseph's Boys' Club, are giving every effort to present the finest softball contests in this section, and we believe that's just what they're doing. There are still some good scraps coming up, so why don't you all make it a point to take in a couple? Time and again it's been proved that the reason we seldom get any place in sports in this community is because the public is too proud to start with something small and build it up. Thanks a lot to every one of those four league entries for your best efforts, which have been good enough for this corner, and to all fans: come on, now, let's ride the rest of the way with them. What do you say?

This community, like all others, likes to lead in almost anything that will bring back showers of praise from the passing parade of motorists and other out of town folks. Yet sometimes we want plenty, but don't try hard enough to get it; blame each other because we fail. However, let's forget what we don't have and look at some of the things (in the field of sports, we mean) which we do possess that stand head and shoulders above surrounding cities. Some day soon we will take you on this little excursion around our town and, after we finish with a "30", this corner hopes to have shown fans where it's not such a bad old site for sports after all, and that we can't have everything, but we can appreciate what assets we possess.

Yesterday's Stars

By the Associated Press

Bob Feller, Indians—Muffled Yankees on six hits in eight-inning game for his 19th victory of year.

Ernie White, Cardinals—Stopped Dodgers with six-hit hurling.

Bob Johnson, Athletics — Hit three-run homer in ninth to help beat Browns.

Ken Heintzelman, Pirates, and Carvel Rowell, Braves—Heintzelman pitched four-hit ball to win first game; Rowell singled in tying run in second game and then stole second to set up winning marker.

John Rigney, White Sox—Won 10-inning battle from Red Sox and hit triple for one of Chicago runs.

Dutch Leonard, Senators—Whipped Tigers with six-hit pitching.

BETTINA MEETS BURMAN IN NEW YORK TUESDAY

BY SID FEDER

New York, July 19—(AP)—Mr. Red Burman and his chin come back to New York's major fistic circles next Tuesday night.

Mr. Burman's chin is a very important item. It's probably the only chin in or out of captivity which Joe Louis' Sunday punch couldn't dent. Yet, although Red took the Bomber's best for five rounds without blinking a few months back, he hasn't been able to get a look-in at New York's better boxing circles since.

FINALS TODAY FOR NATIONAL PUBLINX TITLE

Indian Canyon, Spokane, Wash., July 19.—(AP)—An insurance clerk and an oil equipment firm toolroom employe who go to night school to study law, meet today in the 36-hole finals of the 20th annual National Public Links Golf Tournament.

The insurance clerk is slender, six-foot Jack Kerns of Denver. He defeated Art Pomy of Detroit, 5 and 4, to reach the finals.

The toolroom worker is William Welch, Jr., of Houston, Tex. He reached the finals with a 4 and 3 victory over Pete Doll, Kentucky State amateur champion from Louisville.

It will be a battle between a couple of fellows nobody here had ever heard of when this tourney started. Kerns had qualified with 150 strokes and Welch was one of 17 who had to play off at 151 for 13 match play places.

Today's match will be another 36-hole — or less — ordeal for "Skipper". That's Welch's bride of a year. She has followed all his matches at a discreet distance and never speaks to him or even gives any sign of recognition during the match.

When Welch, who used to play intercollegiate golf for the University of Texas, is making a shot, "Skipper" shields her eyes beneath the brim of her hat and doesn't look up until she can tell by the sound of the gallery that the shot has been made.

Good or Bad

Johnny Vander Meer is either good or bad. Vander Meer struck out 11 Boston Braves to increase big National League lead in that department and score fourth shutout and eighth victory. But Cincinnati's double no-hit, no-run hero of 1938 has been belted out regularly, too, and four-hit performance left him below .500.

Strong Akron Celts Meet Morrison Crew At Irvine Tomorrow

It'll only be a single game at Wilder Field tomorrow, but the Forgers will play two games before midnight.

The Akron Killian Celtics will be the attraction in an afternoon game at Irvine, and immediately following the fracas, the Forge will leave for Wellsville for a night game.

"Emmy" Morrison's crew split a twin bill at Irvine earlier this campaign with Wellsville, and tomorrow night's battle will be a rubber match.

However, before the Forgers look toward the Sinclairs, they will seek their twelfth victory of the season against the Celtics. This outfit boasts a reputation out of Akron that promises they'll give all the competition the Irvine crew is looking for. But the Forge and the Celtics have never crossed bats, and it's a bit of a mystery as to how the Celts will stack up against the Forgers, or vice versa.

Tomorrow's contest is to be a booster game at Irvine, and a larger than average crowd is anticipated.

The probable starting lineup for Akron is: Simpson, left field; Cory, second base; Brickles, third base; Watters, centerfield; Tannkusky, rightfield; Garcia, first base; Woss, shortstop; Vincent, catcher; Joyce, pitcher. The remainder of the roster, including the other members of the pitching staff and utility players is: Harris, J. Pavkov, and Kuszy, all pitchers; Reyko, outfielder; D. Pavkov, infielder; M. Freduniak, catcher.

The Forge lineup will be about the same as usual, and "Elmo" Wolfe will be making his farewell appearance at Wilder Field. Wolfe will go on a week's vacation starting Monday, before entering the army a week from Monday.

It will be: Creola, right field; Wolfe, center field; Hajnik, first or second base; Rosequist, catcher; Morrison, shortstop; Solock, second or first base; Petrewski, third base; Giegerich, left field; and probably Wise or Gagliardi will start at Irvine tomorrow. Hines or Kuliek may draw the mound assignment in the nocturnal affair at Wellsville.

Sports Round-up

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, July 19—Among those who came up with a low number in the new draft was Joe DiMaggio, the New York U. outfielder . . . That injury Paul Derringer got in spring training is giving him trouble. Has to get up nights an dwalk the streets. Some of the Redios think he may have to go under the knife . . . If both the Yanks and Dodgers win and all the series games are played in the Stadium, the winner's share should reach $8,500 per man, or just about a new high . . . Czar Elmer Layden will not reveal the identity of this year's National Football League officials until the men step on the field. Not even owners and coaches will know . . . A wire from Dallas says that Jack Dempsey-Bob Manzell oil partnership line we ran yesterday is five years old. Well, we only mentioned it for the benefit of those who had just tuned in.

DiMag Should Worry

Shed no tears for Jolting Joe.
All good things must end, you know.
So far you go before you blow,
But next year you collect the dough.

The Mail Box

Gary Johnson, Fort Worth: Ruth set the modern home-run record—60—in 1927. He broke his own record of 59 in 1921 . . . J. E. Madigan, Tallahassee, Fla.: That's the Swedish Angel wrassling in Florida. The real McCoy is still on the coast . . . Vic Clasen, Homewood, Ala.: If a third strike is tipped by the batter and dropped by the catcher, it's a foul and the ball is dead . . . John McLaughlin, Torrington, Conn.: Haven't seen those race selections in liquor ads . . . Frankie Mack, Worcester, Mass.: Ty Cobb hit .420 in 1911, .410 in 1912 and .402 in 1921 . . . Eddie Harvey, Sioux Falls, S. D.: You are wrong. Any ball hit over the fence is a homer, whether the score is needed or not . . . F. R. Allsopp, Tulsa, Okla., and others: Write George Halas, care the Chicago Bears, Chicago, Ill. . . . Francis Mogle, Mutchen, N. Ham And Eggs

1 pound slice smoked ham
2 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon celery salt

Heat a frying pan and brown ham quickly. Pour in ingredients. Cover, lower heat and cook until tender. Transfer to heated platter and add eggs.

Eggs

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons chopped onions
2 tablespoons chopped green peppers
4 eggs, beaten
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
4 slices tomatoes
Paprika
Chopped parsley

Melt butter in frying pan, add onions and peppers and simmer 2 minutes. Pour in eggs, beaten with milk and salt. Cook slowly and stir constantly until creamy. Pile up on the tomato slices. Sprinkle with paprika and parsley and surround cooked ham.

Berry Topper

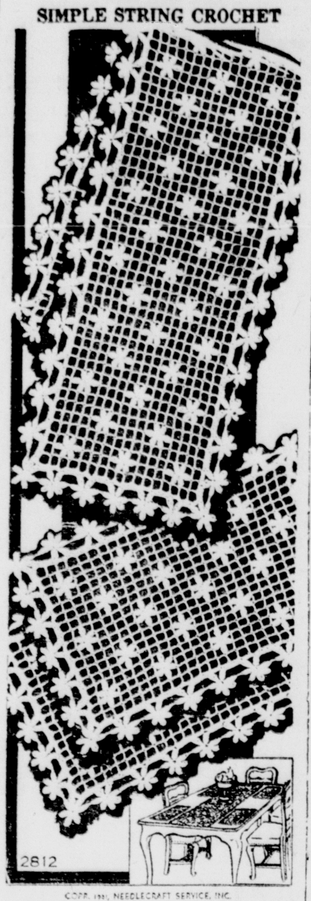

(Raw raspberries or strawberries)

2 cups sugar
2 teaspoons vinegar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup water
2 egg whites, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ teaspoon almond extract
¼ teaspoon lemon rind grated
1 cup berries, slightly crushed

Boil sugar, vinegar, salt and water, without stirring, until fine thread will form. Remove pan from heat while making test. Pour into beaten whites and beat steadily until frosting is creamy and cool. Add extracts and frost cake. While fresh spread berries into frosting.

Around New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Rockefeller Center, these days, is fairly bursting with banks. . . . Three have opened branches side by side in the last year and there now are six banks within the space of a hundred yards. . . . Like the newspapers, which gradually abandoned the downtown "Park Row" district, the banks have been moving beyond Midtown. . . . It's the northward urge, as the city grows.

My good friend George W. Sutton, Jr., who has worked in Africa, sponsored international motorboat societies, edited magazines, written books and who heads the Sutton News Agency, has been regaling himself with the exploits of his early ancestors. . . . "Why, the first woman ever hanged in America was one of my ancestors," he said. . . . Looking up the records of these dim, distant ancestors has taken, pleasantly, a lot of his time and his wife's time. When I asked him where Mrs. Sutton was, he replied, "She's over in the library looking up dead Suttons."

BIOGRAPHICAL note: Forty-five years ago Koster & Biel's old Music Hall, in 34th street, was the scene of the first motion picture shown publicly in America. . . . Today they show large-screen television there. The screen they use is 15 by 20 feet.

John P. Marquand, author of "H. M. Pulham, Esquire," gets around. A week or so ago he received the degree of doctor of letters from the University of Maine. . . . Now he has given up his New York apartment to go to Ecuador to gather material for magazine articles.

Ben Marden tells me that a recent week's gross at the Riviera was the highest in seven years. . . . Bob Christenberry of the Astor tells me Tommy Dorsey has drawn more people to the Astor roof than any previous personality in the roof's history. . . . Charles E. Rochester of the Lexington tells me Hawaiian Room business — always good — is far above that of last year. The defense money has had a lot to do with all this.

THE butlers at the Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth avenue are expert chess players. Maybe enthusiastic would be a better word. They sit in full view of the Fifth avenue traffic every day and play, and the crowds gape. At heart those butlers probably are actors.

Leon, of Leon & Eddie's, the famous night club impresarios, never wears a necktie in daylight. I see him walking almost daily in Sixth avenue, en route to his club, with blue or gray shirt and suit sans necktie.

Suzanne Silvercruys, the noted sculptor, has written a "primer" on the art of sculpture. "I wrote it," she says, "because most people don't realize that sculpturing is a process of building up, not a process of chiseling down."

A note in a metropolitan paper on how-to-keep-cool suggests perforated shoes, shirts open at the throat, and no hats. . . . The hat people aren't going to take kindly to this.

It was an odd ailment that laid Josef Hofmann, the concert pianist, low, last week. He had to call off an appearance at the Stadium because of "water on the knee."

members last month endorsed Justice William M. Parker for the Supreme Court and Judge Charles E. Kenworthey for the Superior Court in the coming elections. Both were appointed earlier this year by Governor James, but must face the election in November.

In a speech prepared for delivery with the resolution by Judge Fleming, the executive committee, action was criticized, and the state committee was described as having "the sole power to make such important decisions."

The Democratic state committee usually endorses a slate of candidates. This year it backed Judge Michael A. Musmanno of Allegheny county for the Superior Court.

Advance Reported Unhalted

portant central front was claimed in the communique which said Nazi forces were pushing a widening salient beyond Smolensk, 230 miles from Moscow.

How far the motorized troops had pierced beyond the historic old Russian western bastion on the upper Dnieper (Dnepr) was not disclosed by the German High Command, but it said Soviet efforts to recapture the city had been shattered since it fell Wednesday after a stout defense.

(Unofficial German accounts intimated 20 days ago a Nazi spearhead was within sight of Smolensk.)

Berlin newspapers and military commentators, elaborating on the official account, declared a wedge probably had been driven deep into the hinterland beyond the fortified city of 100,000 population while infantry and follow-up forces were cleaning up trapped Red Army units in the rear.

The Germans reported reaching Smolensk through a steadily-widened gap in the Stalin defense line along the land bridge between the Dvina and Dnieper rivers.

The German account said the Red Army suffered heavy losses in its unsuccessful fight to hold and regain the city—a milestone along Napoleon's 1812 march to Moscow.

With the luftwaffe still steadily hammering at supply and communications lines east of the battlefront, German sources took the view that the Russians are experiencing "a repetition of what led to catastrophe for the French armies—a breakdown of communications and military information".

After a week of assurances from the High Command that all is going well along the entire eastern front, the German public is expecting that questions in the mind of the people about specific operations toward Leningrad and Kiev may be answered soon.

There has been a lack of definite news from these fronts for the past few days, while the press has carried reports of minor victories scattered along entire front and descriptive stories from soldier-reporters.

(A British Exchange Telegraph Agency report last night from Istanbul said large-scale military preparations directed by the German general staff were under way in Bulgaria opposite the Turkish frontier.

(Travelers entering Turkey from that direction were reported to have predicted that important German moves in Bulgaria could be expected.)

Drivers now receive $1 hourly for an 8-hour day, Callahan explained, adding that the union also demands paid holidays with double pay for drivers who work, time-and-a-half rates for all time over a 48 hour week and two weeks paid vacations. He estimated it would cost the company $75,000 annually to meet all demands.

Union President George Croyle said Newspaper Delivery Service in which the company handles deliveries of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette was not affected.

The commission proposes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation advance large sums annually to private and public utilities to help finance the developments.

Special Session in Doubt

district and Bucks and Montgomery in another, reducing the number from those districts from three to two.

Leo A. Achterman, Democratic floor leader in the House, in the closing minutes of the session, after the Senate had defeated that plan by a 20 to 19 vote—six less than a constitutional majority—denied the Democrats had held unswervingly to the Lehigh-Berks-Montgomery-Bucks plan, and contended others had been approved, but failed to win an okay in the conference committee. Both branches ordered a 10-man committee to study the problem and report to the next special or regular session.

The 191-day session, longest since 1842, cost the taxpayers a million and one-half dollars in round figures.

Commenting on the session, Governor James said:

"My reaction is that the only serious complaints, aside from the question of reapportionment, were the undue amount of time wasted and the partisan attitude displayed by certain Democratic bosses who got in control of the Democratic caucuses.

"Certainly the administration and Republican party have few causes for complaint, despite the earlier stories that the state was bankrupt, and that vast new taxes were inevitable.

"The Republican party has come off with flying colors. We have a balanced budget which should pave the way for a huge tax reduction at the next regular session.

"I consider the session and its accomplishments a complete vindication both of the Republican party and my administrative policies."

Democratic leaders of the legislature hastened homeward—some before the session actually came to an end—without declaring their impressions of the 28 weeks of deliberation.

The governor re-appointed Col. Lynn G. Adams as commissioner of the state police and John N. McKee as chairman of the Milk Control Commission, and named acting secretary of commerce Mark S. James to the full secretary rank. James succeeded Richard P. Brown, who resigned last winter in a dispute over publicity advertising.

The names of Adams and McKee never came before the Senate for confirmation, because of the known hostility on the Democratic side of the chamber. The Republicans had 32 votes, but needed two Democrats to win confirmation for the two men.

mitted to return to their homes after one year of service."

The president told reporters yesterday that he would send a special message to congress next week recommending that selectees, National Guardsmen and reserves be retained in training beyond one year.

Senator Clark (D-Idaho) expressed views similar to Wheeler's regarding yesterday's White House press conference. "If the president really pulls a Wheeler," Clark declared, "he will keep this country out of war and will release the selectees. Everyone hopes that he will carry out his commitments."

Senator Nye (R-ND) took exception to Mr. Roosevelt's statement yesterday that American forces would provide protection in Iceland against attack or threat of attack. The president added that neither he nor his listeners could define threat of attack.

"The president's declaration that he couldn't define a threat of attack against us makes it evident that he has little or no reason on which to base a declaration of emergency," Nye said.

vote on sale of liquor at the September 9 primary.

Petitions have been filed by Lack, Tuscarora and Delaware townships, and Mifflin borough, involving voters in seven of the county's 20 districts. The borough of Jamoyne in Cumberland county also will vote on the question.

On the effect of the legislature on the wet-dry issue, Dr. McBride commented:

"The tide has turned and the wets will need to 'watch their step' and change the nature of their program or they will be quickly shown by the people of Pennsylvania the way out. We will gladly join in any program to enforce liquor laws and for rule by the people."

Dr. McBride paid tribute to the fairness of the presiding officers of both branches of the legislature, but said the "pickling" of meritorious bills in committee was unfair.

MILK PRICE IN PHILLY HIKED CENT A QUART

Harrisburg, July 19—(AP)—Philadelphia housewives will have to pay one cent a quart more for their milk after July 25.

The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission ordered the increase yesterday and said the price may be jumped another cent later in the year "if present production costs continue". The present price in Philadelphia is 12 cents a quart for grade B and 15 cents for grade A.

The commisison estimated price increases would total $3,000,000 a year for milk producers of the area which includes all of Philadelphia county, and parts of Bucks, Montgomery and Delaware counties adjacent to the city.

HEAT AND FIRES IN NORTHWEST COSTLY

Seattle, July 19—(AP)—Heat and fires have taken a toll of lives, timber and grain in the Pacific northwest. In Oregon, nine deaths were attributed to the heat, four persons drowned and one was killed by lightning. Washington charged two deaths to the heat and reported dozens of prostrations.

Temperatures in the two states have climbed as high as 115 degrees in recent days, breaking all-time records in several areas.

Fires, most of them set by lightning, have exacted a toll of timber and wheat.

The average motor vehicle in the United States has an annual burden of federal and state taxes of about $60 as compared with $35 only a decade ago.

The motor car industry's payroll is now four times as great as it was during World War days.

TICKETS ARE ON SALE HERE FOR FISHBEIN TALK

A large number from Warren, including several physicians, nurses and other interested persons, are planning to attend a Kiwanis Club banquet at the Kane Armory on Tuesday evening, July 29, when the guest speaker will be Dr. Morris Fishbein, one of the country's leading medical authorities.

The banquet is being held for the benefit of the crippled children's fund of the Kane Kiwanis Club.

The Warren Kiwanis Club is cooperating in the promotion of the event here and tickets are on sale at Baker's Cleaners by H. D. Baker, first vice president of the local club. Reservations may be made or tickets purchased there. All reservations must be made before Friday, July 25.

The general public is invited to hear Dr. Fishbein, who is editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association and who for several years has written a syndicated newspaper column on general medicine.

Dr. Fishbein is speaking at Chautauqua on the day following his appearance in Kane.

To Present Concert Here

The well known radio and concert quartet "The Messengers" of Minneapolis, Minn., will present a sacred service in song at the Calvary Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

During the past seven years this group, pictured here, has visited nearly every state in the union, besides several provinces in Canada. A year before the start of the current war in Europe, they traveled through Germany, France, Belgium and Sweden and sang in England, Denmark and Norway.

These young men are alumni of the Lutheran Bible School at Fergus Falls, Minn., and during the past year, in addition to radio and concert work, have attended the University of Minnesota, Augsburg College and the Minneapolis Vocal Arts School.

No admission is charged and the public is cordially invited to this fine song service.

The two weeks have been full of activities which include hikes along the beach and to see the streamlined trains near camp. A very successful stunt night was presented, with the mess tent made over into a fine theatre. The winning stunt was put on by Gordon Elmquist, Tommy Dykins, Dick Lindquist and Dale Almendinger for Tent No. 7.

Winning mushball league team was the Popovers, including Don White, captain; John Robertson, J. Bottorf, J. Knapp, J. Kyler, R. Streich, Dick Swick, Al Gibson and Phil Johnson. In football, the winning team was the Yankees with John Hamilton, captain; N. Simmons, T. Hampson, H. Blick, Bill Hill, Jr., R. Munson, Jim Johnson and G. Swartzfager.

Presentation of emblem was made to the following first week campers: First year—Richard Pryce, Jim Boddorf, John Kyler, Ray Streich, Randy White, Davey Winans, Jim Johnson, Dave Helm and John Watt. Second year—Don White, Dick Swick, Bill Hill and Henry Blick. Third year—John Knapp, Jack Reddecliff, Tom Hampson and John Robertson.

Honor camper award for the second week goes to Bill Clinger. Other awards will be announced later.

Telford Eppley and his staff will remain for one more week to conduct the annual Y. M. C. A. Health Camp for boys.

New Memorial Books Presented to the Warren Public Library

New memorial books recently presented to the public library are Behold the Man! by Toyohiko Kagawa; Golden Mirages by Philip A. Bailey; Music for the Multitude by Sidney Harrison; I Came by Walter C. Lanyon; Counsel Assigned and The Perfect Tribute by Mary R. S. Andrews.

Behold the Man! has been presented in memory of Mrs. W. J. Richards. The great Japanese Christian, Kagawa, has for thirty-five years devoted his life to demonstrating the changing power of Christianity in his fight against faith, ignorance and disease in the slums. Not only is he a member of men but he is Japan's most prolific writer. Behold the Man! is his most recent work, the life of Christ in the form of a moving novel.

Golden Mirages has been presented in memory of Richard G. Dawson. Philip A. Bailey has collected from those who know the desert prospectors, cow-hands, Indians and pioneers, these stories of lost gold mines such as that of the Pegleg Mine and the legendary Three Gold Buttes. Every old adobe house, church, canyon and mountain range in the Southwest seems to have its mystery. Golden mirages is evidence hwoever that these ghosts have not stopped the men who search for gold.

Music for the Multitude is a recent publication presented by friends in memory of Walter H. Murphy. Sidney Harrison, the author, is widely known in British musical circles as a pianist, teacher of music and radio broadcaster. In this new book he develops the relation of music to social and political events.- from the time of the earliest ritual chants to the emergence of modern swing.

I Came presented in memory of Mrs. D. I. Ball is the first volume of a trilogy. Walter C. Lanyon, journalist and writer, is deeply concerned with experience in another dimension which he calls Father Consciousness or Creative Consciousness. He urges the reader to free himself from devitalizing evil in the present plane and lay hold of a cosmic power which makes a more abundant life through an acceptance of divine law for human conduct.

Counsel Assigned and The Perfect Tribute presented in memory of Levi Smith are two books centering around incidents in the life of Abraham Lincoln which reveal traits of his character in a vivid, pointed manner.

All of these books are now available for circulation at the public library.

Letters to the Editor

Times-Mirror.

If I may, I would like to use your columns again in cautioning citizens of Warren against questionable projects which may cost them money without bringing any returns. These have been reported to the Chamber through the National Better Business Bureau.

Home owners should be exceedingly careful in signing "contracts" with strangers for new roofs or other repairs or installations in their homes, and positively should sign nothing without reading it word for word, including any apparently unimportant small type. Many persons who thought they were merely signing a contract covering work have discovered that, whether any work was done or not, the document was a promissory note.

We are informed that many new groups have been organized to solicit funds and merchandise "for war refugees" and for our own soldiers, most of which organizations are of rather questionable character. Care should be exercised in giving money to strangers.

Employers should inquire at this office before giving checks for subscriptions to magazines for their employes, for racketeers are promoting such publications to "combat Fifth Columnists."

Merchants of all types are cautioned against an itinerant window trimmer who is covering communities in this section, offering to trim windows for a ridiculously low sum. Before he is through with a job he manages to involve his employers in unexpected expenditures.

Before concluding any transaction with a stranger, inquiries should be made at this office, or complete information relative to him and his organization should be obtained elsewhere.

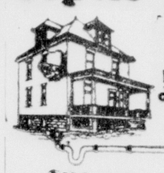

Warren has high grade contractors to do all necessary work, and local men and women represent practically all the worthwhile relief and defense organizations. It would be better for Warrenites to restrict their business and contributions to these responsible fellow citizens.

H. W. Correll, Secretary,
Warren Chamber of Commerce.

When replacing a battery it is a good plan to notice at the moment whether the ammeter arm shows discharge when the lights are turned on. If it does, the installation is correct.

Warren Student to Be Graduated From Slippery Rock Soon

Charles Burch, a senior in the secondary curriculum at State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, expects to receive the B. S. degree in education at the graduation exercises to be held in the college chapel Friday morning, July 25, at 10 o'clock. His special fields of study are biological science, mathematics, and physical science. He did his student teaching in the high school department of the college laboratory school last semester.

During his four years at Slippery Rock Charles has not only maintained a high scholastic rating, but has been prominent in campus affairs. He has served as president of the Open Road Club and of the Biology Study Group, and as treasurer of the Men's Dormitory Council. He has also participated in dramatics and has been a member of the cross country team.

In addition to these activities Charles is a member of Phi Sigma Pi and Alpha Omega fraternities and is affiliated with Trigcalana, a mathematics society, the International Relations Club, and the Y. M. C. A. He also sings in the Vespers Choir.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Burch, 118 Main Avenue, Warren.

One of the most popular events at the summer session of the national championships in August is the amateur pair event. This is better known as the President's Pairs, because the trophies are traditionally donated by the president of the American Contract Bridge League.

This event is restricted to players with less than 10 Master Points, and is one contest in which there is never a defending champion, since victory makes the winners Masters. It is popular because it gives all non-Masters the best possible chance to take a step up the ladder of national ranking.

Today's hand was dealt in the President's Cup last year. It gave some pairs an opportunity to demonstrate excellent play. The opening lead was taken by the ace of diamonds.

Then South cashed the top spades, discarding a club from dummy. He led a low club. West jumped in with the king. West returned the queen of diamonds and South ruffed. Another club forced out the ace. East exited with the third diamond, which South ruffed.

East's failure to lead trumps placed him with the king. Declarer now found a clever play for his contract. After cashing the jack of clubs, he led a third spade for dummy to ruff low. A low trump was led from dummy and the finesse of the jack held.

Then South led the fourth spade and ruffed with the queen of trumps. East over-ruffed, but the contract was made. With two cards left, if East led the trump, the ace would pick up all adverse trumps and the spade jack would make. But the club lead would let South discard the jack of spades and dummy's nine of hearts would shut out West's eight.

OPEN ALUMINUM CAMPAIGN SOON AT YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, July 19.—Isadore A. Schnell, local chairman of the civil defense committee, announces that the national defense aluminum collection drive, which is being conducted throughout the nation from July 21st to July 29th, will start in Youngsville next Monday. The local Boy Scouts under the direction of F. F. Jaffin, Scout leader, will make the house to house canvass in Youngsville. It is desired to collect all scrap aluminum which can be spared. Pots or pans, or any form of aluminum can be used and is now needed in the national defense program.

Leo Johnson, of Youngsville, who is chairman of the Agriculture Defense Committee of Warren county, called his committee together last evening in the Grange Hall and plans were made for the collection of aluminum articles in the rural sections of the county.

How Far Motorized Nazi Troops Have Pierced Beyond Historic Old Russian Western Bastion on Upper Dnieper is Not Disclosed by High Command, But Soviet Efforts To Recapture City Said To Have Been Shattered

LOSSES OF DEFENDERS BELIEVED TO BE HEAVY

By the Associated Press

Berlin, July 19—The "gate to Moscow" was declared open tonight after the Germans claimed substantial successes far east of Smolensk, but there was no indication that the Nazis proposed to take immediate advantage of the reported vulnerability of the Russian capital.

Military commentators said the chief purpose of the Germans would be the destruction of the largest possible part of the Russian army as a fighting force and would continue to pinch off sections and mop them up as fast as possible.

The German wedge, driven past Smolensk into central Russia, has been considerably widened, the German High Command said.

In a review of the first three weeks of the Russian war the High Command said the Russian air force up to July 10 had lost 6,233 planes on all fronts, and that Russian losses in the battle between Bialystok and Minsk amounted to 324,000 prisoners, 1,800 cannon and 3,332 tanks. In other actions Russian losses were placed at 80,000 prisoners, 2,600 cannon and 4,283 tanks.

The war bulletin also reported gains on the northern and southern flanks.

It declared German and Rumanian forces moving into the Ukraine from Bessarabia had crossed the Dniester River "in several places" and said the Red Army had been pushed back in the north to the northern shores of Lake Ladoga.

The German and Finnish drive from the north was said to have smashed through stubborn Soviet resistance.

BRITAIN READY FOR SPECIAL 'V' DAY OBSERVANCE

REICH IS RETALIATING

London, July 19.—(AP)—The director of Britain's "V for victory" campaign against Germany today broadcasts final instructions to inhabitants of German-occupied countries on the continent for the special "V" day to be observed tomorrow.

"Colonel Britton," as the British radio announcer directing the campaign is known, told his listeners that their first step would be to take a vow "to continue faithfully this fight in the best way you can for your country's independence and honor."

Then he said, the psychological war against the German armies of occupation should be carried on everywhere at every opportunity. The "V" symbol should be displayed in writing everywhere it can be put and tapped out in Morse code when it cannot be written, "Col. Britton" said.

The British were keenly interested in seeing what tomorrow's reaction to the specially stepped-up campaign would be. They have been surprised by the rapid spread of the "V" war already, a device started by "Col. Britton" almost jokingly but soon made into a serious campaign when reports indicated that it was having wide and powerful results.

The Germans have attempted to take over the "V" symbol in a counter-offensive, declaring it as their own, the initial for the German "Viktoria," but the British are certain this will fail.

Industrial Peace Formula Offered By C. of C. President

An industrial peace formula—strike moratorium committees composed of representatives of labor, management and the public—was placed before the nation for consideration today by Albert W. Hawkes, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Pointing to success of the plan in Toledo, Hawkes, in a radio address last night offered it as a national solution to labor dispute problems.

He said local Chambers of Commerce could establish the committees and push voluntary mediation. In Toledo, said Mayor John Q. Carey of that city, the board of five labor, five industrial and eight public members, saved many millions of dollars in wages and man-hours of production.

GOVERNMENT IS TIGHTENING UP ON IMMIGRANTS

By LLOYD LEHRBAS

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—Weeding out Axis spies, subversive agents and propagandists, two inter-departmental committees established to tighten up drastically on immigration from German-dominated Europe are now handling 100 cases a day against a human backlog of 500,000 refugees clamoring to enter the United States.

The two committees, composed of representatives of the State, War and Navy Departments, Federal Bureau of Investigation, and immigration service of the Justice Department, were organized to supervise issuance of immigration visas under President Roosevelt's new authority to control the entrance or exit of aliens or Americans "in the intrest of national defense."

Officials said every effort is being made by detailed investigations here and abroad to determine the desirability of applicants as prospective American citizens and to keep foreign agents from slipping into the country in the guise of immigrants.

Under President Roosevelt's orders, visa applicants also are carefully examined, to prevent the entry of persons who leave close relatives in Germany, Italy or Nazi-conquered countries.

Long Legislative Session and War Combine to Reduce Number of Votes On Beer and Liquor, Head of Anti-Saloon League Says

DEAD LINE IS PASSED

Harrisburg, July 19—(AP)—The long legislative session and the war combined this year to reduce the number of local option votes on liquor and beer, in the opinion of Dr. F. Scott McBride, head of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League.

The dry leaders, held in the legislature during the past seven months to watch the progress of bills changing the liquor laws, were able to assemble their forces today in communities where the votes will be taken September 9.

The dead-line for filing petitions to place the local option question on the ballot passed last week.

Dr. McBride said "we do not have many reports yet but we do not expect as many referenda as there would be under normal conditions because of the war situation and the long session of the legislature."

SPECIAL SESSION IN DOUBT

Prospects for Agreement Will Have to be Good Before Governor James Will Call Legislature Back In Extra Meeting to Re-Apportion the State's Congressional Districts, Executive Warns in Statement

ADAMS IS REAPPOINTED POLICE COMMISSIONER

Harrisburg, July 19—(AP)—The prospects for agreement will have to be good before Governor James will call the legislature back into special session to re-apportion the state's congressional districts, the executive said today.

The assembly adjourned at dawn yesterday after a last futile attempt to cut the number of U. S. representative districts from 34 to 33, as required after the 1940 census.

"I shall make my decision on the question of calling a special session for congressional reapportionment only after further study to determine whether there really exists any prospect for agreement on a fair and proper plan of reapportionment," said James.

It is estimated that special sessions of the legislature cost from $250,000 to $500,000 depending upon length. Each member receives $500 for attending 30 days, with another $250 if the session goes longer.

Failure to reapportion the districts before the 1942 elections will place all 33 congressional seats on a state-wide, instead of local basis.

The conference committee representing both branches of the legislature held 37 meetings in an effort to reach accord on a plan. Finally two compromises came out on the floor of the Senate—one a Republican proposal to cut a district from Philadelphia which was promptly squelched in the Democratic-controlled House. The seven members of congress from Philadelphia are Democrats.

The other represented the Democrats' major plan, which Republicans said was the exclusive proposal of that party. It would have combined Lehigh and Berks in one

MANY PETITIONS YET TO BE FILED AT COURT HOUSE

With but one day remaining for candidates to file petitions to have their names placed on the ballot at the primary election, September 9th, there still remain many who have not filed at the county commissioners' office, it was stated this morning.

One additional candidate for a county office filed his petition. He is J. R. Allen, Democratic aspirant for the office of register and recorder.

Four more council candidates in Warren borough have filed their petitions, it was stated, including three Republicans and one Democrat.

Republican candidates, all incumbents, are F. W. Waite in the second ward, Harold S. Hampson in the fifth and Delbert W. Lewis in the eighth. Albert Schwartz has filed as a Democratic candidate for council in the seventh ward.

It was pointed out at the commissioners' office today that in order to have their names placed on the primary ballot, candidates must file their petitions not later than five o'clock, daylight saving time, on Monday. No petitions received after that time will be accepted, either by mail or in person.

In addition to the petitions already mentioned, the commissioners' office reported today that many have been received for township offices. A list of these will be printed following the last day for filing.

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY DIES IN THE HOSPITAL FEW HOURS AFTER BEING STRUCK BY TRUCK WHILE AT PLAY

Deaf Mute Finds Voice To Ask for Car Fare

Camden, N. J., July 19—(AP) — When a policeman brought a woman he said was a deaf mute into court on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, Judge Gene Mariano dismissed the case.

"Go home!" shouted the judge, making motions toward the door.

The "deaf mute" looked up. "How can I go home when I haven't any car fare?" she asked.

This time, the judge was speechless. He handed her a dime.

She didn't even say thanks.

William Connolly Songer, Son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Songer, Succumbs to Injuries Received Earlier In Afternoon

DRIVER IS NOT HELD

Injuries received when he was struck by a truck near his home about 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon resulted in the death of William Connolly Songer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Songer, 225 Jackson street, North Warren, in the Warren General Hospital about 9 o'clock last night. The boy, who would have been 9 years old in September, suffered a fractured skull, fracture of the upper right leg, lacerations of the left leg and cuts and bruises. He died without regaining consciousness.

According to Private J. E. Ruffa, of the state motor police, who investigated the accident, the boy was struck by a tank truck owned by the firm of Fred Tapp and Curtis, of Sugar Grove, and operated by Howard Curtis, 36, of Eldred, R. D. 1, one of the partners.

Private Ruffa stated that the boy was following a wagon loaded with hay, drawn by a team driven by Ray Gilman, an employe of the Warren State Hospital, which was proceeding west.

Riding on the rear of the wagon, it was stated, were two other boys, Charles Lindberg, Jr., of 235 Jackson street, North Warren, and Scott Sharman, Jr., 112 Church street, North Warren. They told the officer that the Songer boy asked them if there was room for him to ride on the rear of the hay wagon and when they replied in the negative he started to run across the highway, darting into the path of the tank truck, which was proceeding east.

The driver of the truck told motor police he didn't see the child until he struck him, and that he had no chance to avoid the accident.

Private Ruffa said that a car operated by Marie Swanson, of 14 Church street, North Warren, with Mrs. Anna Lawson, of the same address, as a passenger, was following the hay wagon. He said that both women corroborated the statements of the Lindberg and Sharman boys regarding what had happened.

The left front fender of the truck, a 1941 International, struck the boy, throwing him just beyond the center line of the highway. The

BULLETIN

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt went to work today on the message he will send to congress next week urging removal of the one-year limit for military service of draftees, National Guardsmen and reserves. No appointments were made for today or tomorrow in order that the president might employ his full time on the message.

Washington, July 19.—(AP)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) said today that "if the president would 'pull a Wheeler' he would keep his promise to keep us out of war."

The Montanan, consistent critic of administration foreign policies, was referring to Mr. Roosevelt's press conference statement yesterday that he would not disclose future troop movements. Authorizing direct quotation, the chief executive added: "In other words, I don't think it's right that I should pull a Wheeler."

Wheeler predicted in advance the movement of American forces to Iceland, and Britain's Prime Minister Churchill implied later that the senator had endangered British lives by his statement.

Repeating that if he "pulled a Wheeler" the president would keep the nation out of war, Wheeler added Mr. Roosevelt had made that promise during the last campaign and also "made a promise to the draftees that they would be per-

RED ARMY FIGHTING FURIOUSLY

Detachments Waging Guerrilla Warfare Behind German Lines Recapture Two Cities, Breaking Up Armored Enemy Columns, Capturing Three Whippet Tanks and a Number of Armored Cars Along With Considerable Ammunition

AMBASSADOR REMAINS WITH PART OF STAFF

By the Associated Press

Moscow, July 19.—Russian detachments waging guerrilla warfare behind the German lines reported today the recapture of two cities identified only as "SH" and "Z."

Red Star, the Soviet army's newspaper, said in a dispatch from the front that the original band numbered only ten men but that others were quickly recruited and these broke up an armored German column, capturing three whippet tanks and a number of armored cars and bicycles as well as considerable munitions.

The paper described the bands as "partisans," and said after the attack on the armored column they turned against the bulk of the Reichswehr troops, surrounding the city of "SH."

A bitter battle followed during which the German garrison was destroyed. The "partisans" then marched into the city where the population welcomed them with food and clothing.

Red Star said that in the Latvia area there were 1,000 of these partisans engaged in attacking isolated German units and disrupting communications, and that Russian calvary also was operating, in one instance capturing German officers and 65 motorcycles and two batteries.

Part of the personnel of the United States embassy meanwhile has moved to Kazan, 450 miles from Moscow.

All through the night, a Soviet communique said, the Red Army fought stubbornly in the Polotsk-Nevel, Smolensk and Bobruisk areas.

The roar of cannon, planes and tanks and the cries of battle came from the 140-mile deep salient the Nazi mechanized forces and speed infantry have driven to Smolensk, 230 miles southwest of Moscow, and the areas on its flanks.

NEW MEXICO IS SCENE OF BATTLE FOR WATERHOLE

BY RICE YAHNER

With the First Cavalry Division in the Desert, July 19—(AP)—(Via Airplane Courier)—Seventeen thousand soldiers—the new cavalrymen with horses, tanks and even airplanes—"fought" in southern New Mexico today for a water hole.

It was all part of the nation's preparedness for defense in a method of warfare in which oil is a principal prize. But with the cavalry in the desert, water—15 gallons a day for each of 7,000 horses—is a greater prize.

This simulated warfare, with the First (regular) Cavalry Division opposing the 56th Brigade (federalized Texas National Guardsmen), was the first phase of ten days of war games in preparation for larger exercises—full armies against each other—in Louisiana later.

In developing the battle, the 56th Brigade swung in a great semi-circle of about 50 miles north of Fort Bliss, Tex., and took high ground in the vicinity of Flat Tank Charley, a mud-walled water reservoir at the foot of the Organ mountains.

Half of the First Division held them by the nose while the other half slipped around during the night and hit them in the rear.

Yesterday, three of the cavalry's "grasshopper" planes—light two-place commercial ships, used as behind-the-lines messengers—cracked off landing gears in landings on the bumpy desert. None of the pilots or passengers was injured.

BIG SOVIET ARMY IS WAITING IN THE REAR

Istanbul, July 18.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Another Soviet army, 4,000,000, is waiting behind Moscow to be flung against the German forces at the opportune moment, an Axis diplomat who was stationed in the Russian capital until the outbreak of the war, said today. He said this force is separate from Russia's Far Eastern army.

STRIKE AFFECTS FILM DELIVERIES

Pittsburgh, July 19.—(AP)—George F. Callahan, president of the Exhibitors Service Company, said today that about 350 western Pennsylvania motion picture theatres faced week-end film delivery handicaps because of a strike of 80 service company truck drivers in demand for a 10-cent hourly wage increase.

The company, at which the AFL Newspaper Delivery Drivers, Chauffeurs and Handlers, Local 211, struck yesterday, serves virtually all theatres outside Pittsburgh in a 150-mile radius in the delivery and pickup of films from Producers' Exchanges here, Callahan said.

Callahan asserted the union gave only a 48-hour notice of its intention to strike, resulting in what the company president called "the

INQUEST TO BE HELD MONDAY IN REYNOLDS DEATH

An inquest into the death of William H. Reynolds, of Southwest township, who died a week ago in the Warren State Hospital from a fractured skull suffered a month before, will be held at the court house here on Monday evening at seven o'clock, it was announced today by Coroner Ed C. Lowrey.

Louis Jackson, also of Southwest township, has been charged with aggravated assault and battery in connection with the death. It is alleged that he wielded a flatiron which caused the fatal injury. At present Jackson is under $1,000 bond for his appearance at the next term of court here.

Coroner Lowrey and Sheriff William C. Stuart were in Southwest township and in Titusville yesterday, interviewing prospective witnesses for the inquest.

Among those who will testify are Dr. E. P. Cuthbert, of Titusville, who attended Reynolds on the day after he had been hit by the flatiron on June 13; Dr. H. S. Anderson, of Titusville, who last Saturday dressed cuts on Reynolds' face, suffered when he tried to jump through the window of a car in which he was taken to the Titusville Hospital, and who ordered Reynolds brought to the state hospital; Gordon C. Tracy, of the Arnold Funeral Home at Titusville, who brought Reynolds to the state hospital; E. G. Wright, with whom the Reynolds family lived; Floyd Wright, an uncle; David Jackson, father of Louis; Carl Wright, Mrs. Louis Jackson, H. C. Laws, of Erie, who was employing Reynolds as an electrician on the new Pleasantville school building; Dr. Ernest A. Fogel, of the state hospital staff, who performed the autopsy on Reynolds, and Dr. William Cashman, of Warren, who was present at the autopsy.

Jackson will be represented at the inquest by Attorney E. H. Beshlin District Attorney J. H. Goldstein will represent the commonwealth.

MASONIC PICNIC AT YOUNGSVILLE IS SUCCESSFUL

Youngsville, July 19.—Despite a drizzling rain which started about six o'clock and continued most of the evening, the joint picnic of Joseph Warren Lodge, F. and A. M., of Warren, and Stillwater Lodge, of Sugar Grove, at Island Park here yesterday proved a great success. About 250 Masons, their families and friends attended.

Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and in addition to the bountiful supply of tureens brought by the picknickers, the committee in charge provided coffee and lemonade, ice cream and suckers for the youngsters.

Because of the rain, games were held indoors under the direction of Leo Gleese. These included events for both youngsters and adults. Among the more interesting were the potato relays, bag races, milk bottle and yard stick contest, and the nail driving contests.

The general chairmen of the picnic were Floyd Ahlquist, of Warren, and J. Gordon Clark, of Youngsville.

COURT UPHOLDS DISMISSAL OF OFFICIAL HERE

The dismissal of William P. Hawkes as manager of the Warren branch office of the Unemployment Compensation Board for engaging in political activity has been upheld by the State Superior Court, according to an Associated Press dispatch from Philadelphia today.

Hawkes was charged with coercing civil service employes under him to pay political assessments to the Warren County Democratic Committee during the 1938 gubernatorial campaign. Hawkes appealed his discharge.

The court said "condonation by the department, board, or the courts of such political activities as the testimony upon this record shows appellant (Hawkes) engaged in during a partisan political campaign, would tend to make a farce out of legislation under which he received his appointment."

PLAN RELIGIOUS EDUCATION FOR STUDENTS HERE

At a meeting held at the Y. W. C. A. activities building last evening, 20 representatives of local religious groups, Catholic, Hebrew and Protestant, organized the Warren Council of Weekday Religious Education.

Officers elected were: President, Rev. James A. Davidson; vice president, Father Edward Jacobs; secretary, Mrs. Guy F. McCloskey; treasurer, Ralph E. Sires.

The purpose of the council is to assume responsibility, in cooperation with the borough school board, for the religious education of high school students in grades 9, 10, 11 and 12. A plan is now being formulated by which students of the four last grades of school who elect religious education would be released from the high school one hour a week to go to their respective churches for a definitely organized course of religious instruction. One-half credit per semester would be given for satisfactory work in these classes and attendance at two regular church functions.

This plan is not original in Warren, over 400 communities in the United States, including Pittsburgh and Oil City, having such a project at work. Churchmen and educators, alike, pronounce the movement one of the most significant in many decades.

The Warren Council, working in closest cooperation with the board of education, proposes to begin its program in September. Many details of the plan are yet to be worked out by the school board and council.

COUNTY SCOUTS BEING TRAINED TO BE PREPARED

Preparedness for emergency service is the keynote of the program of the Boy Scouts of the Warren county council in their summer camp now in operation at Camp Olmsted on the Allegheny river. Upon arrival in camp this week Scouts received instruction in pitching different types of tents, proper ditching and camp construction with an eye toward doing this job for others in times of emergency. As in a real disaster cooking stoves and other essential equipment was made from materials at hand. They are receiving also instruction in making water rescues and this instruction is being administered even to those who have not yet learned to swim.

The Scouts are being trained in health practices which are necessary in large groups and are learning to prepare food and how to sterilize cooking and eating equipment.

The test of all the training and practice comes as the boys live in the shelters which they erect, cook from the stoves they make and eat the food they prepare.

The whole program is being carried on under the leadership of the troop leaders in camp and a trained adult camp staff of eight men. Four troops totalling eighty-four boys and men are engaged in the program this week and it is estimated that when the season ends August 13 that 400 Scouts from twenty-seven troops will have received emergency service training.

With Our Boys at Indiantown Gap

By Special Correspondence

Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, July 19—I start my column this time by saying we sure are having a time down here. By this I mean that things are really in a rush because of the combat problems we are working on every day. I will explain in later paragraphs just exactly what has taken place between my last letter to you and the one which I am now writing.

Wednesday was a very good day for the men as they had a half holiday in a sense of the word. The men did not have to go out to drill in the afternoon and were given the time to sort of clean up the small jobs that still remained to be done around the barracks and also to wash clothes and all of our web equipment which consists of packs, cartridge belts, canteen covers, etc. However, this morning an imaginary riot was taking place in the 112th Infantry area and the various organizations of the 112th were to come in and quell the disturbance. Company I moved into the area at approximately 10:30 a. m. and were ordered to mop up any stragglers of the mob who might be hiding within the area. Squads were then designated by the company commander and each squad took a certain sector of the area and began their police of the grounds with fixed bayonets and rifles ready for the slightest kind of a disturbance. There were several cooks and such men as are detailed to stay in the camp that found out when the boys said move they really meant it and did so without having to be told a second time. It really was a very instructive thing for the men as we haven't had very much of this sort of fighting. Street fighting is considered one of the most dangerous kinds of warfare due to the fact that the enemy has such splendid cover for snipers and machine-gun nests. However, there is going to be a lot of this type of work in the way they fight nowadays and we intend to be up on every little detail if the time ever comes when we have to use it.

Tuesday was a day of activity we shall not forget for quite some time due to the fact that we had a maneuver in the morning and were on the defense, and one in the afternoon and were on the attack. The morning program went along something in this order:

All of the various organizations marched out to the battalion training area and were given their various missions of which "I" Company was to be a part of the main line of resistance. Upon taking up our position we proceeded to wait for the enemy to attack. It wasn't long before we saw them coming and they gained fire power on us and we had to withdraw from our first position to a more secure one where we made our final stand. A smoke screen was laid and the men had to don gas masks while attacking us through it and they really had quite a time of it but they were successful in their attack and we were quite the loser for a while, but it wound up that we held our ground as well as could be expected under the conditions.

The afternoon of the same day saw the company in the attack and it would really do your heart good to see the deftness which the men use in plying the trade that they have taken to so well. We moved into position and were to remain there until our reconnaissance patrols which were sent out to gain the information, which is so vitally important to the attack, returned. After the return of these patrols three combat patrols were made up and we moved forward to the attack. Upon reaching the enemy we were immediately subject to heavy fire from machine-gun and rifle fire so we had to go into a defensive position until our other patrol could get up behind the enemy and wipe out their machine-gun.

After this was done the prize incident of the day occurred. Sgt. Harold Kays and Corporal Edward Fitzgerald were advancing in front of the patrol when out popped a lone rifleman who exclaimed, "O. K. you fellows come out of there, you're prisoners."

Well, this was almost too much for the mighty Sgt. Kays to take so he yelled out, "What do you mean? we've had you and your machine-gunners wiped out for at least 10 minutes."

Upon hearing this the remainder of the patrol of which I was a member thought they had better go around to the rear of this fellow and show him just how dead he would have been had he been an enemy. (I should say a genuine enemy.) We came out of the woods just behind him so suddenly he really didn't know what to say or do and just stood there. Well, it was so funny that the umpire stood there and couldn't figure out whether to laugh at the way it happened or to get angry at the fellow for not knowing what to do. Anyway in the end it all turned out that we won the battle and everyone was happy. However, we did not win it as easy as all that just after this crazy incident there was a gas attack which was put on by the enemy and it turned out to be real tear gas and believe me if you don't think that stuff burns and smarts the eyes and makes you cough, just ask Sgt. Arthurs who really got a good shot of it. Well, this is about all there is to this day's battle so I will endeavor to give you some other sort of news for a while.

Today was one of rejoicing due to the fact that Lt. Russell J. Kelley returned to the camp after having been gone for three months. He was on detached service at Ft. Benning, Ga., where he was studying the use and tactics of the heavy weapons of a rifle company. As you know from previous letters, every company has one platoon which is called the weapons platoon and this consists of a machine gun section and a mortar section. Lt. Kelley is the leader of this platoon and we are sure that after his schooling at Ft. Benning he will be a very capable leader for this section of our organization.

We still have no draftees but we are waiting patiently for them and hope to get them sometime this week.

Private William Hulings of this company is without a doubt one of the most spirited men I have ever seen when it comes to simulating that we are really at war with the men whom we fight against in our mock battles. The other day when we made an attack our rifles were all in ordinance for inspection so we therefore had to go in the field without any kind of weapons. Hulings was making a charge up quite a steep knoll when out pops an enemy soldier. Nothing to do, Pvt. Hulings picked up a club about six feet long and started to wield it over his head shouting come and get it. Well you can imagine how you would feel having some one coming at you with a club of that size and acting like he really meant it. The boy who was the enemy soldier did not try to advance any further and was soon as calm as could be expected.

This being about all I can think of at the present time I will close my column for now and endeavor to write more in my next one. So, until then, I remain yours truly, the Company I correspondent for the Warren Times-Mirror.

HEARTBREAK HONEYMOON

by WAT...

YESTERDAY: Henry Pell had nothing to do with the fact that when he went to Chicago on a business trip, Marie Mason followed him. Marie is determined that Henry shall abandon the real estate business for radio, and his wife Luella Pell, for Marie Mason. And Henry, dazzled by New York and fine prospects, doesn't quite know what he wants to do.

Chapter 21

No Luella

HENRY looked in the kitchenette. Luella wasn't there. He looked in the bedroom. Everything in its place. Clean, neat, tidy, like the living-room. But still no Luella. He took his suitcase over to the bed and dropped it there. No doubt Luella was out doing her marketing for the week-end. She liked to get things in before the stores and markets got too crowded, as they usually were on Saturdays. Home Overnight from Chicago, and no wife to greet him. Then, feeling guilty, he asked himself if he really deserved to be met. There was no answer.

He drew a deep breath. He began to be glad that Luella wasn't at home. He would have time to sort of collect himself He walked over to Luella's little desk to look for a book of matches. It was then that he saw the envelope. It was addressed to him in Luella's handwriting. He picked it up, tore it open, and took out the sheet of note-paper. There weren't many words on it, but they told a whole story.

"Henry," they said. "I've gone home. I'm terribly sorry you were not honest with me about the trip to Chicago.

Luella."

He read the words over and over, and then stood staring at the paper. He remembered something Marie had said. "I know Luella better than you do. . . . She'll slip quietly away and weep." And that's just exactly what little Luella had done. She had slipped off alone—gone back down home—to weep. Alone in the little cottage her aunt had left her.

Henry felt sick, shaken. He didn't know which way to turn, what to do. And what sickened him more than anything else was the fact that he wasn't sure he wanted Luella back!

The telephone bell began ringing. It startled him. Still holding Luella's note, he went into the living room to answer it.

"Hello?" he said.

"Oh, Henry!" said a feminine voice. "Thank God, I've found you at last. . . . This is Marie. You must get in touch with Rector and Everett at once. . . That Latham woman is—"

"But, Marie, I've just gotten in. I haven't even had time to take off my coat."

"Don't take it off! . . . That Latham female is going to land that radio job if you don't show up and display some interest. . . . Hurry, hurry." Marie's voice rose to a high pitch. "You promised me you'd be back Wednesday, and here it is Saturday! . . Oh, Henry, how could you?"

"It was impossible to get away any sooner," Henry said. "I tried, but—"

"Tell me all the excuses later," Marie cut in. "There isn't time now."

"All right," Henry said. "I'll grab a taxicab and get down to Rector's office immediately."

"You must, Henry—you must. I'll be simply heartbroken if you don't get there in time."

Two receivers clicked back into their hooks.

Henry stood perfectly still for several seconds, feeling numb, like one whose limbs had turned to water. Then, suddenly catching up his hat, he hurried out. He couldn't stay in the place a moment longer. It was almost as though someone had died there.

No New Job

AS SOON as he reached Rockefeller Center, Henry lost no time in taking the elevator to the thirty-eighth floor where the Rector-Everett offices were located. Going after a job at any time was not easy, but going after a job only a few minutes after you have discovered that your wife has walked out and left you was something that took backbone. Henry hoped his backbone would bear up under the strain!

"Mr. Pell to see Mr. Rector," he said to the receptionist.

"Just a moment, Mr. Pell," said the girl. She spoke over the telephone, and then turned back to Henry. "All right, Mr. Pell, you may go in."

Henry went through a door marked "Private." Malcolm Rector was sitting behind an expensive desk in a highly-modernistic office. He looked up and smiled.

"Well, well!" he said. "Where've you been keeping yourself, Pell?"

"The firm sent me out to Chicago," Henry answered. "I'm sorry I've not been able to come in sooner. But, here I am now, and I'm hoping you've got good news for me. About the job, you know."

"Oh, yes, about the job," said Rector somewhat vaguely. He cleared his throat, fiddled with a letter-opener. "Well, as you know, it's been more or less uncertain all along."

"Yes, I realize that," said Henry. "However, I understood that if you had an opening you would consider me. It's about that I'm here now."

"I see." More fiddling with the letter-opener, another clearing of the throat. "As a matter of fact, Pell, we did consider you — we thought we would take you in, should an opening occur. However, it seems that a majority of the firm members preferred someone else."

"You mean the place has been filled?"

"Yes. It was all settled an hour or so ago."

For a moment Henry stood silent, feeling the oddest sort of mixture of emotions—disappointment, relief, numbness.

"Then there's no place for me—at all? he asked finally.

"I'm afraid not, Pell," said Rector. "Not at the moment anyway. But we want you to keep on sending us songs, the sort of things you've done for Miss Mason—songs with a native air."

"I suppose you gave the position to Miss Latham," said Henry. "I heard she was being considered for it."

"As a matter of fact, we did give it to Alma," Rector said. "She has a pretty fine business background, as well as a knack for writing radio material. She's given us three outstanding sketches, and promises to give us more."

Henry stood irresolute for a second or so. He was thinking of all the evenings he had neglected Luella for Marie and the songs, and the endless talks about his future in radio.

And now Luella was gone, there was no future for him in radio, and he had to face Marie sooner or later. She would naturally be waiting to hear the result of his interview with Malcolm Rector. He hoped she wouldn't be too disappointed, wouldn't make a scene. Scenes. He was sick of them. Women. Darned if he wasn't sick of them also.

"Well," he said finally, "that's that!"

"You mustn't feel too badly," Rector said.

"Oh, I'll bear up. I've still got my realty job. That is a break!"

"As I told you," Rector said, "we'll always be glad to see any material suited for Marie. So keep us in mind."

"Thanks." At the moment Henry felt as though he would never again work on a song—not if he lived to be one hundred years old. "Reckon I'd better stick to my knitting," he grinned. "as the saying goes. Or, shoemaker to his last if you get my meaning." Then suddenly he realized that he was guilty of voicing a couple of old adages, guilty of doing the very thing he had criticized Luella for doing. "So long, Mr. Rector, and thanks for thinking of me."

Alma

"GOOD luck to you, my boy," Rector responded. He shook Henry's hand warmly, and as he did so Henry had the feeling that the man was tremendously relieved to have the interview come to an end.

"We'll continue to see each other socially, I trust. I'd welcome another of your mint julips some evening. Besides, I hear from Tommy McIntyre and Marie Mason that Mrs. Pell is a wonderful cook." He smiled. "We old bachelors like a home-cooked meal occasionally. . . . Not a very subtle hint, I'll admit—but there it is!"

"Yes," said Henry, "Mrs. Pell was—is a wonderful cook."

And then he went out. He stood in the hall just outside the office door for a time, trying to collect his thoughts. Rector suggesting that he be invited to dinner—a dinner Luella had cooked—and no Luella to cook it.

Just then Alma Latham came along the hall, having just gotten out of the elevator. She was resplendent in a new autumn ensemble. Her eyes sparkled. She had the look of one who has just reached the top of the ladder of success—or one who is now sitting on top of the world.

"Hello!" she greeted.

"Hello, yourself!" said Henry.

"Were you in to see Malcolm?"

"I was."

"Then he's in his office?"

"He is."

"Thanks. . . . I'll go right in."

"I've heard the news."

"About the job?"

"Yes."

"No hard feelings, I hope?"

"Oh, no! May the best man win—always. . . . I hope you make good, and become famous over night."

"Thanks!" said Alma. "That's very sporting of you."

"Not at all. . . . You'd have wished me well, wouldn't you, if I'd got the job?"

"Naturally."

"I thought so."

"You're disappointed, I know," Alma went on. "And I'm sorry. But I'm sure your wife will be glad to hear that you are to go on with the realty company."

"Yes? What made you think that?"

"Just being like I am—a little psychic. I'd hate to see her home broken up, because she's a really fine girl."

"Thanks," said Henry. "But her home's already broken up."

SUMMER SCHOOL OF EVANGELICAL CHURCHES HELD

Members and friends of Evangelical churches throughout this section are interested in plans for the program of summer meetings arranged by the Pittsburgh Conference at Arbutus Park at Johnstown.

Summer school and leadership training classes were held this week, concluding today. Next week, there will be missionary institute on Monday and Tuesday and Bible conference through Friday, followed by camp meeting from July 25 to August 3.

Rev. S. R. Schieb, of Salem church, and Rev. J. C. Wygant, of First church, will spend next week at the park. The former is one of the conference examiners and will give examinations during the week.

Highlights of the two-day missionary gathering will be addresses by Rev. N. J. Deckinger, on furlough from mission fields in Japan.

Among speakers engaged for the Bible conference program are Dr. Raymond W. Albright, instructor in the School of Theology at Reading, and Dr. Ralph W. Key, minister of the Harlem Presbyterian church in New York City.

Other names of interest noted on the program are Rev. H. W. Kaebnick, superintendent of the Pittsburgh district; Rev. E. L. Nicely, superintendent of the Johnstown district; Rev. R. L. Fassinger, and Rev. R. S. Shirey, former Warren ministers.

For the camp meeting period, under the supervision of Rev. Sidney V. Carmany, president of the Arbutus Park Campmeeting Association, the evangelist will be Rev. James W. Davis, pastor of the Evangelical church at Terre Haute, Ind. The Harmony Gospel team will provide special music.

FOREST COUNTY FARMERS PLAN ANNUAL OUTING

Arrangements have been completed by the Forest county farm tour committee for a trek that will take participants to a number of points of interest next week.

The party will assemble in front of the county court house at Tionesta at eight o'clock in the morning and will visit in turn the following places:

John Boleratz farm near Union City to see a potato sprayer mounted on tractor in operation; Keystone Cooperative Grape Growers Association at North East, for cherry processing; home of Mrs. C. B. Selter, to view a remodeled kitchen; Brook Farm, to see the highest producing Guernsey herd in Erie county; Peninsula Park for a picnic dinner; P. J. Paine farm, cold storage project; Willow Brook farm, to see Berkshire hogs, cherries, apples, grapes, asparagus and latest irrigation system in operation.

Persons of this section interested in joining the Forest county touring party are asked to be at the court house at the above hour.

CHURCH GROUP AT YOUNGSVILLE ENJOYS OUTING

Youngsville, July 18—About 40 members and friends of the Dorcas Class of the Methodist church school went to Jamestown Thursday and enjoyed a cooperative dinner with Mrs. Florence Chrispell, 410 Lakeview avenue, with her daughters and a few other Jamestown friends. These included the former Methodist pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. Chas. Reed, now located at the Brooklyn Heights church of that city.

A bountiful dinner was enjoyed, with tables placed in the house and on the porches. Following dinner, a business session was held with Mrs. Young presiding. Plans were considered for other activities during the summer. A silver bake sale collection was taken, the money to be used for church needs.

At the social hour Mrs. Kenneth Chrispell presided at the piano and the guests enjoyed instrumental music as well as favorite songs. Mrs. Dwight Jack sang several solos and Mrs. Ralph Mead assisted with music.

HONOR COMING BRIDE

Mrs. Aubrey Briggs entertained Wednesday evening at her home on High street in honor of Miss Naomi McDowell, whose engagement has been announced. A two course luncheon was served with a color scheme of pink and white. Covers were laid for eighteen. Miss McDowell was given a shower of useful and pretty things for the kitchen in the new home. One of the forms of entertainment was the hemming of tea towles. Games were also featured.

LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. John Gruen, of Pittsburgh, are guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sitler.

Mrs. R. R. Merrill and son, Robert, are spending the summer at Edinboro, where Mrs. Merrill is doing college work.

About 30 local people attended the illustrated travel lecture in the Garland Methodist church Tuesday evening.

Mrs. L. L. Russell is spending the balance of the summer in Youngsville in her own home. She had been away for some time earlier in the season.

Miss Mina Wingard underwent a tonsil operation in the Warren General Hospital Saturday.

Mrs. Wilson returned Thursday after spending a few days with Mrs. Florence Chrispell in Jamestown, N. Y.

Mrs. Charles Henry is in Pittsburgh this week, visiting her daughter, who is having treatment there.

The rate of motor vehicle fatalities this year is the highest since 1937, when just short of 40,000 persons in the nUited States lost their lives in motor mishaps.

UNCLE SAM WANTS ALUMINUM SCRAP

The week of July 21 to 28 has been set aside throughout the nation for the collecting of unwanted aluminum, and citizens of Warren county are reminded that the intensive drive here will be on Friday and Saturday, July 25 and 26.

It has been well stated by William Knudsen, Director General of the Office of Production Management that aluminum is sorely needed for plane production.

The appeal is made in a patriotic sense in the hope that all America will respond and by their contributions give something vital to the matter of national defense, without having to pay out any money to make such a contribution.

If you have any aluminum in your household that can be spared without necessity of having it replaced, the local committee will very much appreciate your donations toward the national cause.

Pots and pans can be transformed into planes that will assist the Army and Navy to afford greater protection to our nation—and in that alone, no greater appeal can be made to your patriotic instincts.

The local "bin" for receipt of aluminum scrap will be erected near the Soldiers' and Sailors' monument the first of the week. In the meantime, watch the columns of this paper for further information on the plans for the Warren county drive.

HINTS FOR GIRLS ON VISITING SOLDIERS

Many a girl will spend her vacation this year visiting some young man at a distant army camp—some of them in the hope of making a little headway toward marriage.

Ruth Millett, author of the column "We, the Women," suggests the smart girl will remember these do's and don'ts:

She'll let her young man know in advance when she plans to arrive. Surprises aren't always appreciated.

She won't give other soldiers cause for saying "Say, your girl sure is crazy about you." She'll soft pedal that possessive arm-clinging stuff in favor of a little more dignity.

If she has any brains at all she won't flirt with all her young man's friends, though she will be friendly and charming to them.

Certainly she won't make the mistake of letting any of them know that she already knows about the promotion her friend just received—for he is sure not to want them to know he wrote her a bragging letter.

If she has a car with her, she'll see that it is filled with gas before she picks up her young man—army pay being what it is.

If her young man is a private she won't go around talking about how handsome the officers look in their uniforms. It would be like his telling her how gorgeous Doris Duke looks in her diamonds.

She'll be smart enough, of course, not to over-stay her welcome, but to leave while her young man is still begging her to stay on.

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

"CAN CHRISTIANS REJOICE NOW?"

PAUL ACKERT
Warren

"We also rejoice in our tribulations123561234564-).'½1264)3.-52
". . . We also rejoice in our tribulations . . ."—Romans 5:13.

It need not be only for religious reasons that we rejoice in tribulation. Any suffering that is a sure means to a pleasant result can be thankfully endured. Governments may be accused of instigating wars, but the people fight and sacrifice, partly at least, in the hope of the fruits of victory. When these are denied or frustrated, the country faces the inevitable choice of revolt or resignation.

The letter to the Romans, then, seems at first sight to give voice to a common, world phenomenon. But to believe this would be to take the text out of its context—which then becomes a pretext. The writer to the Romans is speaking definitely of one kind of tribulation, and that is the suffering which comes from living one's life according to his religious beliefs. Now that a war psychology is again saturating the thinking of peoples with emotional excesses, illogical hypotheses, and intolerant, fallacious standards, it is once more dangerous to live according to religious beliefs.

A true disciple of Christ does more than endure tribulation—he rejoices in it, as the apostle says. The non-disciple would say, "Avoid tribulation; sidestep it if possible, but avoid the issue." Not so the disciple! "Welcome it," he says, "grapple with it, as Jacob did with the angel, and overcome it, for you are with God."

That this may be done: first, the person must himself have the triumphant faith; second, the church much express socially this faith in its own structure and its work; third, both the person and the church must assume responsibility for its Christian belief to the fullness of suffering. Else why the Cross? What other raison d'etre does Christianity have for the person and his world?

The world is proud, and rightly so, for its painters, poets and composers who have lived in squalor and poverty, and have rejoiced to suffer for their art. This is a noble approach to the joy that a man can know because of his persecutions for his divine faith. Faith in his art makes the artist; faith in Christ makes the Christian. "Rejoice and be exceeding glad" is both a challenge and a promise to those who venture the faith.

PRAYER: Our Father, who alone canst turn trouble into a maker of true joy, be more powerfully present with us, that we may find Thee surely, though trial and trouble do beset us. Teach us how to live, both with Thee, and with our fellowmen, in the spirit of reconciliation, that we all may be one. Amen.

Midsummer Night's Dream

• EDSON'S WASHINGTON COLUMN

BY PETER EDSON
Times-Mirror Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 19—A major argument is developing in Washington over the prediction of Donald M. Nelson, director of purchases in the Office of Production Management, that "before this effort is over, there will be a shortage of food."

If British demands increase, if Russia destroys her grain fields, if Europe goes into a period of famine and must be fed for several years by the Americans, then maybe the prediction might come true. But no one can see that far ahead, and in the meantime, all the other food supply experts are denying vehemently that there are any shortages in sight.

What these other food men fear most is the unwarranted talk of shortages may send wholesalers into the market to stock up with reserves, thereby creating an artificial food shortage and higher prices.

Extra demands on the U. S. food supplies have been tremendous. The total food bill for 1941 has been estimated at $15 billion, which is 25 per cent or $3 billion more than the food bill for 1940.

That increase represents not just higher prices, but increased quantities—for the British, for the Army, for relief and for extra sales just because payrolls are higher and consumption greater. Up to a certain level, the more you make, the more you eat. Also, the more you eat the more it costs you.

You might think the increased size of the Army and Navy would mean a million or more eaters had merely been transferred from the civilian to the military tables, but it doesn't work that way. Take eggs. Army menus call for eggs at six out of seven breakfasts, or 50 per cent more eggs than these same men would eat if they were in civilian life. Take salads. Army menus call for a salad a day with uncooked vegetables. That's a lot more salads than you could make most men eat if they were at home.

Foor for Britain and other countries makes a sizeable extra demand. Up to the last report of lease-lend administration, June 1, nearly $52 million had been allocated for these British food purchases. Approximately $32 million went for poultry and dairy products, $6 million for meat, $6 million for fruits and vegetables, $3 million for cereals, and $3.5 million for lard and $1.5 million for miscellaneous items. Total food purchases for foreign countries may run to $400 million next year.

Surplus Marketing Administration has been doing most of the extra buying and its operations will probably equal if not surpass food purchases for Army and Navy, which are estimated to total $300 million for the year.

There is little evidence of these two biggest buyers not working in the closest of harmony. SMA does a good bit of distress buying to support lagging prices. Naturally, it can't announce in advance that it is going to buy a million cases of canned tomatoes, or the price would immediately rise. The OPM purchasing division is also a canny buyer, and watches the market for surpluses and distress prices.

SMA's purchases reach astounding totals in some categories. From March 15 to July 12, SMA has bought, for example, 156 million pounds of lard, 41 million pounds of dried and frozen eggs, 42 million pounds of cheese, 150 million pounds of pork, 122 million pounds of dried prunes, 172 million pounds of dried beans, 42 million pounds of cheese and so on.

Anyway you look at it, there are no immediate shortages in sight for the average dining room table. Grains are available in surplus. Beef and lamb supplies are reported adequate. Pork may be temporarily short in the fall and winter. Hens were never more cooperative and the egg and poultry supplies are breaking all time production records. Early spring demands for more vegetables have been responsible for an estimated 20 per cent increase in truck patch acreage. Dairy products may in time be a little shy for, like a machine tool, it seems to take two years to manufacture a cow that will give milk.

YEARS AGO IN WARREN

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921

It was reported on the streets today that another well known citizen is to announce for the Republican nomination for tax collector. If the rumor is confirmed it will make six candidates in the field. The race promises to make the September primary the most exciting in years.

The Conewango Building and Loan Association has elected the following officers: President, J. M. Siegfried; vice president, F. M. Knapp; secretary, A. Mintzer; treasurer, Dr. O. S. Brown; attorney, W. S. Clark.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fraring and children, Bertha and Eugene, leave Sunday night for New York, from where they will sail Tuesday for Alsace-Lorraine to visit relatives and friends.

After being shoved aside for other entertainment for the past ten years, quoits is again becoming a popular recreation and contest in Warren again.

A special train will be run over the Pennsy railroad Saturday night containing a large number of race horses and the paraphernalia for the race meet to be held at the Fair Grounds here next week.

Blackberries will be so plentiful this season that auto parties may fill their pails from their cars as they drive through the patches.

In 1931

Negotiations were concluded today whereby the Emblem Oil Company acquires from Dr. O. S. Brown property on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue, east of Water street. The company plans to erect an up-to-date service station, the second in the borough.

Twelve women of the Conewango Valley Country Club participated in a triangular meet at Erie yesterday with the Wanango and Kahkwa club players. Mrs. Gail Hamilton's 95 placed her among those winning low gross awards.

Thursday evening Dinsmoor-Schwing Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars and its Auxiliary members will go to Barnes to the home of Mrs. Ida Wagner, Gold Star Mother, for a picnic.

At present Rabbit Swanson is leading hitter of the Warren Pennsylvanians with an average of .381, while Art Johnson, left-handed flinger, comes next with .355.

These are busy days for members of Company I, Pennsylvania National Guard, which will leave Friday for Mount Gretna for the annual two weeks' encampment.

Robert Kinander, who is spending the summer at Chautauqua Institution, was here for a visit yesterday.

Fruit Growing Is Vital To U. S. Defense Effort

LONDON reports cotton-packed peaches are selling for approximately $1 each, showing what war does to prices, especially in a country not self-sustaining.

United States has a surplus of foods—insurance against food shortages and ersatz diets. As early as 1913 U. S. postal authorities recognized philatelically the importance of fruit growing with the $1 parcel post stamp above.

Food is as vital to national defense as guns. The Army needs it to keep in fighting trim; civilians need it to maintain morale.

Apples, oranges, lemons and grapefruit are plentiful in America. Their importance and value cannot be overlooked.

U. S. annual apple crop averages 121,755 bushels. Oranges approximate 78,000,000 boxes, grapefruit 43,000,000 boxes and lemons 11,000,000 boxes.

There are 33 bones in the spinal column at birth but only 26 when we grow up.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—Congressmen and a good many other government officials have their noses to the defense grindstone, but, like little boys in school when they hear the first notes of the circus calliope, they are casting eyes out the window.

In the case of Congress, et al., the glance is toward Texas and what they are wondering is will Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel, newly elected senator (to fill the seat of the late Sen. Morris Sheppard) try to play the same topsy-turvy with national politics that he has as two-time governor of his state.

About three years ago, a comparatively unknown flour man who never had held public office jumped into the Texas political arena with both feet; a six-piece "hill-billy" orchestra; a wife, daughter and two sons who campaigned with him; a sound truck and frequent radio programs.

He announced his platform was the Ten Commandments and his motto, the Golden Rule. His political power was a $30-a-month pension for folks over 65, talk of economy and a lot more talk about "the professional politicians." But with that, he blasted his way into the governor's mansion at Austin.

Admitted His Failure

HIS inaugural was held in the University of Texas football stadium and the crowd was reported at 50,000. Two years later he ran again, using almost the same tactics, but adding to it the frank admission that he had been a failure and asking the people to keep him in office so he could whip the legislature and the "professional politicians" into line. Once more it was O'Daniel all the way.

Last month, by a margin so narrow (less than 1,100 votes) that it won't be official until another canvass is taken, chubby, grinning showman W. Lee O'Daniel won a U. S. senatorial toga.

If you still have any wonder that congress and the "professional politicians" of Washington have cocked a curious eye in the direction of Texas, let's turn the page and glimpse a little more of the picture.

When O'Daniel was inaugurated the second time, he tossed a gargantuan barbecue and searing on the coals, among other chunks of meat, was 2,000 pounds of buffalo that the governor had bagged himself on a southwest Texas ranch.

Claiming that he was treated unfairly by the press, the governor jumped toward the publishing game himself with "The W. Lee O'Daniel News," a 25-cent weekly, all profits from which were to go to the Red Cross.

March On Washington?

EVERY Sunday morning, the governor did a radio broadcast that reached every corner of the largest state. His "hilly billy" orchestra played hymns and the governor spoke.

Addicted to versification, O'Daniel has delivered portions of official speeches in rhyme.

A sizable part of his campaign for the Senate seat was reiterated promises to "twist the tails" of "pussyfooting professional politicians" in Washington.

There's talk now that he might make a triumphant barnstorming trip to Washington, his soundtruck and hill-billy band announcing his tour across the intervening states.

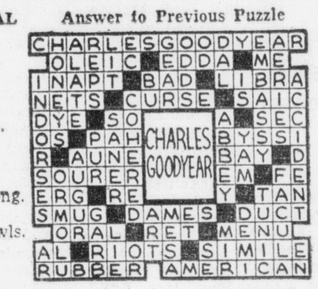

It won't be the first time that a political bombshell has come to Washington from a state office. Sometimes they develop into duds, smothered completely in the blanket of national and international affairs. Sometimes, they settle down to the quiet congressional life and spend their days hewing to the party line and mending political fences to keep all their votes in one pasture. Once in a while, however, they continue to explode with the same display of pyrotechnics they showed at home.

GRACEFUL SCALLOP-EDGED FROCK

PATTERN 4809

By Anne Adams

Give a "lift" to your mid-summer wardrobe with this bewitching afternoon frock by Anne Adams. Pattern 4809. Each front bodice panel makes one smooth piece as it gracefully curves into the pointed waistband—a lovely, slimming treatment. Tiny buttons sewn down the center seam add to the nice effect. The soft-cut sides of the bodice are held trim by darts at the shoulders and gathers at the waist. You'll like the gay, feminine touch of scalloped edges at the deep neckline and the short sleeves. Even the skirt has unusual style, with two panels in front and one in back. A charming, easy-to-make frock to wear with your best summer accessories for festive occasions!

Pattern 4809 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 3⅛ yards 39 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS and STYLE NUMBER.

Junior Recital At Warren Conservatory Is Very Pleasing

The piano recital given last evening in the Warren Conservatory of Music concert hall by Miss Lillian Louise Dornheim, of Beaver Falls, proved an outstanding junior presentation. Miss Dornheim formerly lived in Warren and was greeted by a large audience of friends.

Opening with the Bach "Solfeggietto", she showed a splendid technical control and beauty of tone and in the familiar Beethoven "Moonlight Sonata" she showed a rare asset, deliberation and repose. In her second group were two Mokrejs pieces, "In Lilac Time" and "Valcik in D Flat", the former judged one of the best performances of the season. Also in this group was "Enchanted Hour" by Hammerbacher, played with fine expression. The Friml "Valse Poetique" and Hahn's "Concert Polonaise" were both very satisfactorily played and in the final composition, Lecuona's "Malaguena", Miss Dornheim showed a skill and brilliancy seldom bettered among students.

As assisting artist of the evening, Miss Elizabeth Jayne, lyric soprano, displayed a lovely voice that is rich in quality, flexible and, at the same time full of color and artistic shading. She sang two groups, "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Quilter, "A Brown Bird Singing" by Coates and an aria from "The Daughter of the Regiment" by Donizetti. Accompaniments were effectively played by Edith Haines Kuester.

KITCHEN SHOWER FOR MISS MCDOWELL

Youngsville, July 19—Mrs. Aubrey Briggs entertained at her home on High street Wednesday evening with a kitchen shower for Miss Naomi McDowell, who is to be an August bride.

The time was spent in hemming towels for the honored guest and with prizes for the best work going to Jane McDowell, sister of the honored guest, and Miss Lucy Anderson. After this, a clothesbasket full of lovely and useful gifts for the kitchen were presented the bride-elect. Mrs. Roy McDowell, her mother, and Mrs. Warren Kay, an aunt, assisted the hostess in serving a two course luncheon.

Those present were Mrs. Melvin Parkhurst and Mrs. Armor Johnson, of Warren; Mrs. Robert Brown, of Corry; Mrs. Ed Johnson, the Misses Lucy and Anna Anderson and Mrs. Evangeline Rowland, of Pittsfield; Mrs. Mertie Kay, Mrs. Roy McDowell, Miss Jane McDowell, Mrs. Warren Kay, Mrs. Robert Mead, Mrs. George E. Smith, Mrs. Belle Kay and Mrs. Charles A. Johnson.

MRS. MOONEY IS PRESENTING PUPILS

Mrs. Alfred J. Mooney, of the Warren Conservatory of Music staff, will present two of her pupils, Barbara Thompson and Jeanne Clark, in a public piano recital in the concert hall at eight o'clock next Tuesday evening, July 22.

The assisting artist will be Joyce Ramsdell, soprano, with Edith Haines Kuester at the piano for accompaniments. All relatives and friends of the young people are cordially invited to enjoy a pleasant musical evening.

CATHOLIC WOMEN TO WORK ON TUESDAY

The Catholic women of the community have decided to augment their present Red Cross work by forming a special group to make surgical dressings each Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock in Room 501 of the Warren Bank and Trust Company building.

Other women in the community, regardless of church affiliation, are invited and urged to join this group if they find it convenient to offer their services on Tuesday evening.

SERIES CONTINUES AT NAZARENE CHURCH

Attendance has been steadily increasing at the Sunday evening services at the Church of the Nazarene, where the pastor, Rev. H. Blair Ward, is bringing a series of messages on "The Lord's Prayer". This Sunday, the topic is "A Prayer for Reverence". There is also to be a special program of gospel music and inspiring congregational singing. The public is welcome to attend.

HAPPY SURPRISE FOR MRS. MacDOWELL

Local Lady Rebekah Is Named to Office By Assembly Leader

It was learned at last night's meeting of the Lady Warren Rebekah Lodge that Assembly President Lillian North has appointed Ruelena Yeager, of the local unit, as district deputy president for the coming year.

Mrs. Yeager succeeds Jennie Clark, of Russell, whose term has expired.

There was a good attendance for last evening's lodge session, which followed an enjoyable tureen dinner. A lodge picnic was discussed, details to be announced later.

The Lady Warren group is making plans to entertain the assembly officers here in September, when the degree captain hopes to have a new class of candidates for initiation.

Grandma Peterson Having Birthday

Mrs. Mary Peterson, 304 Jackson avenue, is being honored informally today by her family and friends in celebration of her 90th birthday anniversary.

"Grandma" Peterson has been enjoying very good health and always looks forward to this gathering in her honor. A smorgasbord will be a feature of the occasion.

She has three children, Mrs. Harry C. Schmidt, Andrew Peterson and Freeman O. Peterson. Besides her children, she has eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

BICYCLE HITS CAR

A car driven by Catherine Gillen, a nurse at the Warren General Hospital, was struck late yesterday afternoon by a bicycle on which two boys, Lee Hall, Pleasant township, and Richard Chapel, Crescent Park, were riding. Miss Gillen was stopped on the south approach to the Hickory street bridge, and the boys going southward struck the left rear fender of her car. Damage to the car was approximately five dollars; to the bicycle, four dollars. No one was injured.

CIVIL SERVICE

The Civil Service Commission announced today examinations for filling six grades of positions for Housing Management Supervisor. The salaries range from $2,600 to $6,500 a year and employment is in the Office of the Administrator, Defense Housing Division of the U. S. Housing Authority. A part of the required experience must have been in connection with housing projects or agencies, in real property management, in a program of public welfare requiring a knowledge of housing conditions, or as a city or county manager. The other prescribed experience may have been in these fields of housing, or in law, engineering, architecture, public administration accounting, or community work. Education may be substituted for some of this experience. Applications must be filed not later than August 14, 1941.

Another highly specialized examination announced by the Commission is for Project Auditor in the Quartermaster Corps, War Department. Salaries of the positions range from $2,600 to $5,600 a year. Applicants must have had as a part of the prescribed experience responsible administrative work in the direction and supervision of technical employees engaged in accounting and auditing on a large construction project. For some of the positions the experience need not have been in construction work. Study in accountancy may be substituted for part of the experience. Applications will be rated as received until further notice.

An examination for coal mine inspector for employment in the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, also has been announced. The salaries range from $2,600 to $4,600 a year. For some of these positions responsible experience in connection with safety-of-operation of coal mines is required. However, for other positions persons may qualify if they have had practical experience in coal mining which included some mine safety work. Applications will be rated as received until December 31, 1941.

The Commission also announced examinations for Assistant Inspector of Hulls and Assistant Inspector of Boilers, for employment in the Bureau of Marine Inspection and Navigation, Department of Commerce. The positions pay $3,200 a year. Applicants must have had experience on vessels of United States registry in any one of the following classes of service: Seaboard Ports, Great Lakes Ports, or Central Western River Ports, or on vessels of the U. S. Navy or Coast Guard. For these examinations applications must be filed not later than September 4, 1941.

For appointment in Washington, D. C., only the Commission has announced examinations for senior and junior blueprint operator and senior and junior photostat operator. The senior positions pay $1,440 and junior positions $1,260 a year. Appropriate experience is necessary for these positions. Applications will be rated as received until June 30, 1942.

All applications must be sent to the Washington office of the Civil Service Commission not later than the closing dates specified. Full information as to the requirements for these examinations, and application forms, may be obtained from W. U. McMichael, Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at the post office in this city, or from the Secretary of the Board of U. S. Civil Service Examiners, at any first- or second-class post office.

OTTO CASPERSON

Funeral services for Otto Casperson were held Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the Borden Funeral Home in Sheffield, preceded by a short prayer service for the immediate family at the family home on Church street, that place.

Rev. Carl Gronquist, pastor of Bethany Lutheran church, concluded the services by reading the poem, "Absence." Bearers for interment in Oakland cemetery here were C. Wilcox, A. Danielson, S. Robinson, Clarence Davidson, Gust Johnson and Clinton DeBolt. Profuse floral gifts bespoke the esteem in which he was held in the community.

Relatives and friends were present from Jamestown,, Buffalo and Olean, N. Y.; Warren, Clarendon, Meadville, Bradford and Youngsville.

Besides survivors previously mentioned, Mr. Casperson leaves three sisters, Mrs. Andrew Swanson, of Jamestown; Mrs. Julia Roller and Mrs. Mary Peterson, Buffalo.

JOHN F. WESLEY

John F. Wesley, born in Sweet Valley, Luzerne county, July 21, 1856, passed away at his home in College street, Youngsville, Friday afternoon at four o'clock. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. for about forty years. Surviving are a son H. C. Wesley, daughter Mrs. Lucile Ritchey, grandson and great-grandson, all of Youngsville. Services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Hull funeral home, Rev. Dwight Jack officiating. Interment will be in the Youngsville cemetery.

GEORGE ARNOLD

Russell, July 19—Relatives here have received word of the death of George Arnold, former local resident, which occurred at his home in Pomona, Calif., July 16, after a short illness. He was aged 72. He is survived by his wife, Mary Thompson Arnold, and one brother, Andrew Arnold, of Russell. Several nephews and nieces also survive. Burial will be in California.

CARD OF THANKS

To all our friends for the sympathy and helpful kindness so generously extended to us during the trying time of bereavement, we are deeply grateful.

munique was mention of the operations before Leningrad and Kiev to the north and south. The Soviet likewise was silent concerning Bessarabia.

The Soviet forces admittedly were suffering and inflicting very heavy casualties in the furious fighting along the broad marshy valleys of the Dnieper and Dvina river valleys to the west and northwest of Moscow.

The new area of heavy engagements developed yesterday about Nevel, on the northern flank of the Smolensk wedge where the Germans evidently were trying to gain elbow room. The Soviet command said that during the night similar fighting developed in the Bobruisk area on the southern side of the wedge.

(A dispatch from Istanbul, Turkey, quoting an Axis diplomat but recently arrived from the Soviet capital, declared a Russian army 4,000,000 strong is waiting behind Moscow, presumably ready to be thrown forward at the critical moment.)

The slowing tactics also were designed to permit the guerrilla armies roaming behind the German lines to get in their maximum blows, the newspaper indicated.

In addition furious engagements developed in a new sector, the Polotsk-Nevel area north of Smolensk salient.

Hard fighting was reported at Polotsk (which DNB, official German news agency(said had been captured) on Thursday, but Navel is a new scene of operations.

Departure of 12 junior officers and clerks of the U. S. embassy for Kazan was made known after Moscow had experienced a half-hour air raid alarm last night. No bombs were dropped.

Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt and his principal assistants and attaches remained in Moscow, however.

Travelers arriving from Leningrad described that northern industrial center as a giant fortress in which factories, stores, newspapers, theaters and trains are functioning smoothly. The travelers said the guns of the nearby Kronstadt naval fortress are booming daily, but that cannonading from the land front has not yet been heard in the city. The only plane that attempted to bomb the city was shot down, it was said.

Illustrating the lightning character of the warfare on the vast front on which large, roaming bodies of tanks and trucks continually are surprising one another in terrific clashes, a Russian communique desbribed how a German tank regiment and a column of motorized infantry and artillery was wiped out.

Ex-Marine Guards is an organization of former United States Marines now engaged in guarding defense industries in the vicinity of Los Angeles, Calif.

COURT AFFIRMS WARREN COUNTY CASE DECISIONS

In opinions handed down in Philadelphia by the Pennsylvania Superior Court today, two Warren county common pleas court decisions were affirmed, according to an Associated Press dispatch.

Principal of the two cases and one which will have much importance throughout the state was that of John Day vs. Warren county commissioners, in which the former sought to retain mortgagee's right of possession to property which had been purchased by the commissioners at tax sale.

It was explained by attorneys in the case here today that the holder of a mortgage on property retains right of possession without foreclosure until the mortgage is paid. Under an act of 1931, it was stated, all liens on property except mortgages were eliminated by tax sales.

It was stated that the commissioners here had purchased a property at tax sale on which Day held a mortgage and on which he had exercised his right of possession by placing a tenant there and collecting rent. At the end of the five-year redemption period, the commissioners sought to collect the rent from the tenant, thus taking over the right of possession although Day still held the mortgage. Day then sued to retain possession and the local court ruled that he had lost the right.

In affirming the local court's opinion, the superior court apparently was ruled that a mortgagee retains merely the bare right to a lien on the property and not the right of possession except by foreclosure, it was stated by one of the attorneys today. In order to foreclose on the mortgage, however, the mortgagee must pay all back taxes, it was pointed out.

County Solicitor Allison D. Wade represented the commissioners in this case, while R. Pierson Eaton was attorney for Day.

In the other case, the divorce granted Mrs. Doris Check Olson from Gail Olson was upheld. Mrs. Olson obtained the divorce last summer, charging indignities. Mr. Olson appealed on the grounds that insufficient evidence was presented, Mrs. Olson was represented by Attorney C. Henry Nicholson and Mr. Olson by Attorney Harold S. Hampson.

Barnes

Barnes, July 17—Mr. and Mrs. William Cohell, of Tidioute, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Hover and Mrs. W. D. Barnes, Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Perry and son, of Burning Well, were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Conquer, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Taylor were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ebling in Warren Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Taylor, of Clearfield county, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Taylor, Sunday night. While in this vicinity they called on other relatives and friends.

Mrs. A. F. Barnes received the congratulations of her friends on the occasion of her seventy-eighth birthday Sunday.

Mrs. F. J. Titus entertained at a family dinner party Friday evening complimenting her mother's birthday. Mrs. Hover was very much surprised and was the recipient of lovely gifts.

Dr. and Mrs. Paul Badger and daughter, Betty and Mrs. Helen Sargent arrived in town from Toledo, Ohio, Wednesday evening and are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Roberts.

Norman Spicer, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Spicer, of Barnes, and Miss Juanita Stover, of Tiona, were united in marriage last Thursday evening by Justice of the Peace Edwin Anderson. They were unattended. They are making their home temporarily at the home of the groom's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sebring and family, who are now living in Erie, spent the week end at their home here in Barnes.

Miss Bette Titus accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Kay Moore, of Sheffield, to South Mountain, Saturday, where they spent the weekend visiting Lee Moore, who is a patient in the sanitarium there. Miss Titus will leave for Winston-Salem, North Carolina, Saturday, where she will spend her internship at City Hospital.

Coroner Ed C. Lowrey, who was called following the boy's death, permitted the body to be removed to the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home. It was not decided today whether there would be an inquest.

Connolly Songer was born in Warren, September 9, 1932, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry G. Songer. He attended the North Warren school, where he was in the third grade.

Besides his parents, he is survived by one brother, Harry G. Songer, Jr., in the United States Navy, and one sister, Mrs. James Madden, of Warren. He also leaves his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Songer, of North Warren.

Removal will be made from the funeral home to the family home, 225 Jackson street, North Warren, late this evening. Friends may call there.

Funeral services will be held from St. Joseph's church on Monday morning at ten o'clock. Interment will be in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Cards Crowd Dodgers in National League With 6-1 Win

Pin Pennant Hopes On Southpaw Ernie White; Yanks Lose

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

A slim youngster named Ernie White, somewhat overlooked in the shuffle, is the pitcher on whom the St. Louis Cardinals are pinning their pennant hopes.

He not only is the ace of the Cards. He is the best lefthander in the National League, and he emphasized it by thumping the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6-1, yesterday to split the senior circuit race wide open again.

The 24-year-old pride of Pacolet Mills, S. C., was the standout hurler in the American Association last year.

He won six of his first seven decisions this season. Then when he was just about to receive recognition alongside the Fellers, Wyatts, Riddles and the rest, he was knocked out of three straight games; the Cardinals lost five straight and the league lead.

What happened, says Manager Billy Southworth, is that White ate something that didn't agree with him on a hot Sunday, June 29, in Cincinnati. He couldn't finish the contest; he lost 13 pounds, and he went onto the Cards' sick list, which, for the season, reads just like the St. Louis roster.

But he looked and acted healthy yesterday in handcuffing the Dodgers. He allowed only six hits and became the first southpaw to beat Brooklyn twice this year.

As a result, St. Louis swept the two-game series and cut Brooklyn's lead to two games before heading for a week-end in Boston.

The New York Yankees, American League leaders, also were stopped yesterday as Bob Feller pitched the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 victory for his 19th win against four defeats. However, this still left the Yanks with a six-game lead and a two-one edge in the three-game series, as well as nine victories in 13 encounters with the Indians for the season.

Rain and darkness halted play in the last of the eighth after a double by Oscar Grimes, a safe bunt by Ray Mack and a fielder's choice provided the deciding run in the seventh.

Joe DiMaggio, whose hitting streak was snapped at 56 games the night before, hit a bonafide single and also got credit for a double when Larry Rosenthal let a fly get away from him for New York's only run in the sixth. Feller gave six hits and fanned nine.

Lefty Grove failed a second time to nail down the 300th victory of his career as the Chicago White Sox nosed out the Boston Red Sox, 4-3, in 10 innings. Grove allowed seven hits, compared with the nine Boston collected off Johnny Rigney, but an error by Lou Finney let in the winning run.

Dutch Leonard's six-hit hurling helped the Washington Senators beat the Detroit Tigers, 8-1, with Rudy York's 18th home run accounting for Detroit's only score. Rain halted the game in the eighth.

Bob Johnson hit his 18th homer with two on in the ninth inning, to spur the Philadelphia Athletics to a 6-5 margin over the St. Louis Browns.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and Boston Braves divided a double-header in the only National League action outside Brooklyn. Ken Heintzelman pitched a four-hitter as the Pirates bagged the opener, 5-1. Three Pittsburgh pitchers allowed only six hits in the nightcap, but two singles following a walk in the ninth inning earned Boston a 4-3 edge.

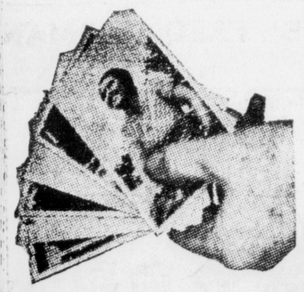

LACY FORFEITS

The West End softball team won a forfeit over Lacy in the playground senior league yesterday. With the victory, the West Side outfit maintained its place with South Street in leading the circuit with five victories apiece against one loss.

On July 2 the sun was at its farthest point from the earth, some 3,000,000 miles farther away than it was last January.

Factory sales of cars and trucks in the United States in April were estimated at 458,000 units.

Joe DiMaggio, consecutive game hitting star, may take the triple batting crown.

Pauline Betz, indoor and clay court champion, is favored in the U. S. singles tournament.

Mrs. Sarah Cooke, Eastern States tennis champ, is eyeing the National singles title.

HOGAN LEADING GOLF FIELD IN CHICAGO OPEN

Chicago, July 19—(AP)—Golf's 140-pound package of scoring dynamite—slender Ben Hogan—apparently is ready to blast out another big nugget from the game's gold field.

The little professional from Hershey, Pa., whose power off the tee is a never-ending source of wonderment to the galleries—led the field as the $5,000 Chicago Open Championship headed into its second round at Elmhurst Country Club today. And from the way he put together a card of 33-33—66 yesterday there were few willing to wager he won't be in front when the 72-hole test winds up tomorrow.

Hogan's five under par performance made him a virtual cinch to finish in the money—within the first 15 places. Should he do this it will be a 51st straight tournament in which he has snared in the prize awards—the most remarkable streak the game ever has known. He led the money winnings last year and is far ahead in this campaign.

One stroke off the pace was Bud Williamson, Fort Wayne, Ind., pro, who had a card of 35-32—67. The remainder of the field, however, was well strung out. Jimmy Hines, Mike Turnesa, Tommy Armour and Johnny Bulla, all had 70's to work on, with the 71 players being Horton Smith, Denny Shute, amateurs John Barnum and Ellsworth Vines, Jim Farrier and Ernie Harrison.

The two big winners of the summer found the going rough. Craig Wood, National Open King, had a first round 73, while Vic Ghezzi, who took the PGA championship last Sunday, kited to a 78.

Bradford Fight Card To Be Held Tonight

The professional fight program being sponsored by the 28th Division Society, which was to have been held last night in Bradford, was postponed because of rain and, weath permitting, will be held tonight.

Six professional bouts were scheduled, four six-rounders as feature attractions, and two four-round preliminaries.

There will be no changes in the card tonight, the time for the first bout being 8:30, DST, and Tony Galento will be on hand to do the officiating.

Jallopy Races Will Be Resumed Sunday

Jamestown, N. Y., July 19.—Jallopy racing will be resumed at Satan's Bowl of Death, Big Tree-Sugar Grove Road, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. The track will be treated with a special oil to reduce the dust condition.

Lloyd Moore of Frewsburg still leads the field in the point standing this season. Several new drivers from Jamestown and Warren, Pa., have entered tomorrow's races.

In addition to the elimination events, a fifteen-lap feature race is scheduled.

SPORT SCATTERINGS

Let's toss a couple of orchids today in various places. The first one goes right down the middle to Paul Rogers and Sam Savoia of the Eagles baseball club. Rogers, who has had aspirations of pitching since he was in high school, is getting a chance this summer to show his goods somewhat with the local sandlot combination. He and Savoia, capable receiving end of the Eagles' battery, did themselves and the team justice Thursday night at Ludlow, though they were victims of the Wildcats by a 3 to 0 score. "Whizzer", as Rogers was tagged in school, pushed the ball over the plate in fine fashion over the route, and was a victim of his own outfit's famine for hits when there were scoring opportunities, else he might easily have won. It's a little late this year for Paul to be effective, but the Marconi Club may tangle with the Eagles and show local ball fans some baseball yet. The two teams have met once, but neither had developed to full strength at that time. As for Savoia, he already has a tryout with the Pittsburgh Pirates behind him, and this season started with the Oil City Pirates, where the mother club farmed him out. But differences with the manager arose and Savoia was suspended indefinitely. It is hoped that he might get back into organized ball, for he's a smart catcher and dependable hitter who may in a few years be big time material.

Now we turn to the West Side diamond and those little softball struggles that have been entertaining some of Warren's ball fans, who have had a season such as we hope they'll never have to experience again. Except for the fast City softball loop, they wouldn't have had a bit of diamond entertainment. And there are lots and lots of the sporting public who haven't enjoyed their share of these twilight tilts that run Monday through Thursday of each week. The four entries, Elks, K. of C., Recreation Center and St. Joseph's Boys' Club, are giving every effort to present the finest softball contests in this section, and we believe that's just what they're doing. There are still some good scraps coming up, so why don't you all make it a point to take in a couple? Time and again it's been proved that the reason we seldom get any place in sports in this community is because the public is too proud to start with something small and build it up. Thanks a lot to every one of those four league entries for your best efforts, which have been good enough for this corner, and to all fans: come on, now, let's ride the rest of the way with them. What do you say?

This community, like all others, likes to lead in almost anything that will bring back showers of praise from the passing parade of motorists and other out of town folks. Yet sometimes we want plenty, but don't try hard enough to get it; blame each other because we fail. However, let's forget what we don't have and look at some of the things (in the field of sports, we mean) which we do possess that stand head and shoulders above surrounding cities. Some day soon we will take you on this little excursion around our town and, after we finish with a "30", this corner hopes to have shown fans where it's not such a bad old site for sports after all, and that we can't have everything, but we can appreciate what assets we possess.

BETTINA MEETS BURMAN IN NEW YORK TUESDAY

BY SID FEDER

New York, July 19—(AP)—Mr. Red Burman and his chin come back to New York's major fistic circles next Tuesday night.

Mr. Burman's chin is a very important item. It's probably the only chin in or out of captivity which Joe Louis' Sunday punch couldn't dent. Yet, although Red took the Bomber's best for five rounds without blinking a few months back, he hasn't been able to get a look-in at New York's better boxing circles since.

FINALS TODAY FOR NATIONAL PUBLINX TITLE

Indian Canyon, Spokane, Wash., July 19.—(AP)—An insurance clerk and an oil equipment firm toolroom employe who go to night school to study law, meet today in the 36-hole finals of the 20th annual National Public Links Golf Tournament.

The insurance clerk is slender, six-foot Jack Kerns of Denver. He defeated Art Pomy of Detroit, 5 and 4, to reach the finals.

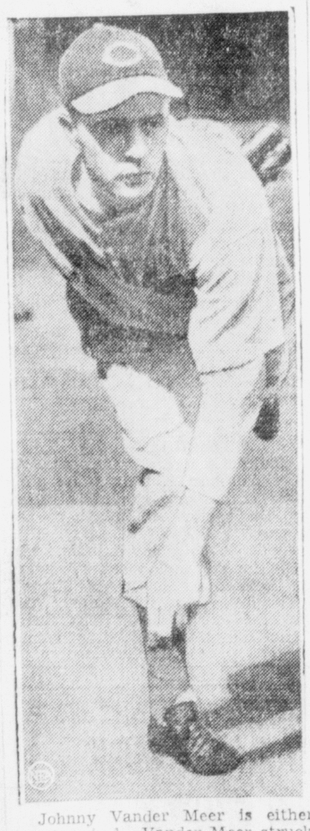

The toolroom worker is William Welch, Jr., of Houston, Tex. He reached the finals with a 4 and 3 victory over Pete Doll, Kentucky State amateur champion from Louisville.

It will be a battle between a couple of fellows nobody here had ever heard of when this tourney started. Kerns had qualified with 150 strokes and Welch was one of 17 who had to play off at 151 for 13 match play places.

Today's match will be another 36-hole — or less — ordeal for "Skipper". That's Welch's bride of a year. She has followed all his matches at a discreet distance and never speaks to him or even gives any sign of recognition during the match.

When Welch, who used to play intercollegiate golf for the University of Texas, is making a shot, "Skipper" shields her eyes beneath the brim of her hat and doesn't look up until she can tell by the sound of the gallery that the shot has been made.

Good or Bad

Johnny Vander Meer is either good or bad. Vander Meer struck out 11 Boston Braves to increase big National League lead in that department and score fourth shutout and eighth victory. But Cincinnati's double no-hit, no-run hero of 1938 has been belted out regularly, too, and four-hit performance left him below .500.

Strong Akron Celts Meet Morrison Crew At Irvine Tomorrow

It'll only be a single game at Wilder Field tomorrow, but the Forgers will play two games before midnight.

The Akron Killian Celtics will be the attraction in an afternoon game at Irvine, and immediately following the fracas, the Forge will leave for Wellsville for a night game.

"Emmy" Morrison's crew split a twin bill at Irvine earlier this campaign with Wellsville, and tomorrow night's battle will be a rubber match.

However, before the Forgers look toward the Sinclairs, they will seek their twelfth victory of the season against the Celtics. This outfit boasts a reputation out of Akron that promises they'll give all the competition the Irvine crew is looking for. But the Forge and the Celtics have never crossed bats, and it's a bit of a mystery as to how the Celts will stack up against the Forgers, or vice versa.

Tomorrow's contest is to be a booster game at Irvine, and a larger than average crowd is anticipated.

The probable starting lineup for Akron is: Simpson, left field; Cory, second base; Brickles, third base; Watters, centerfield; Tannkusky, rightfield; Garcia, first base; Woss, shortstop; Vincent, catcher; Joyce, pitcher. The remainder of the roster, including the other members of the pitching staff and utility players is: Harris, J. Pavkov, and Kuszy, all pitchers; Reyko, outfielder; D. Pavkov, infielder; M. Freduniak, catcher.

The Forge lineup will be about the same as usual, and "Elmo" Wolfe will be making his farewell appearance at Wilder Field. Wolfe will go on a week's vacation starting Monday, before entering the army a week from Monday.

It will be: Creola, right field; Wolfe, center field; Hajnik, first or second base; Rosequist, catcher; Morrison, shortstop; Solock, second or first base; Petrewski, third base; Giegerich, left field; and probably Wise or Gagliardi will start at Irvine tomorrow. Hines or Kulick may draw the mound assignment in the nocturnal affair at Wellsville.

Sports Round-up

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, July 19—Among those who came up with a low number in the new draft was Joe DiMaggio, the New York U. outfielder . . . That injury Paul Derringer got in spring training is giving him trouble. Has to get up nights an dwalk the streets. Some of the Redios think he may have to go under the knife . . . If both the Yanks and Dodgers win and all the series games are played in the Stadium, the winner's share should reach $8,500 per man, or just about a new high . . . Czar Elmer Layden will not reveal the identity of this year's National Football League officials until the men step on the field. Not even owners and coaches will know . . . A wire from Dallas says that Jack Dempsey-Bob Manzell oil partnership line we ran yesterday is five years old. Well, we only mentioned it for the benefit of those who had just tuned in.

DiMag Should Worry

Shed no tears for Jolting Joe,
All good things must end, you know.
So far you go before you blow,
But next year you collect the dough.

The Mail Box

Gary Johnson, Fort Worth: Ruth set the modern home-run record—60—in 1927. He broke his own record of 59 in 1921 . . . J. E. Madigan, Tallahassee, Fla.: That's the Swedish Angel wrassling in Florida. The real McCoy is still on the coast . . . Vic Clasen, Homewood, Ala.: If a third strike is tipped by the batter and dropped by the catcher, it's a foul and the ball is dead . . . John McLaughlin, Torrington, Conn.: Haven't seen those race selections in liquor ads . . . Frankie Mack, Worcester, Mass.: Ty Cobb hit .420 in 1911, .410 in 1912 and .402 in 1921 . . . Eddie Harvey, Sioux Falls, S. D.: You are wrong. Any ball hit over the fence is a homer, whether the score is needed or not . . . F. R. Allsopp, Tulsa, Okla., and others: Write George Halas, care the Chicago Bears, Chicago, Ill. . . . Francis Mogle, Mutchen, N. J.: You can get that dope from Amerian League headquarters, Chicago, Ill.

Today's Guest Star

Banjo Smith, Columbia (S. C.) Record: "With Joe DiMaggio belting out new records and Vic Ghezzi winning golf's toughest tournament, the P. G. A., the Italians seem to be doing all right—on this side."

People You Know

Frankie Frisch is wearing baseball shoes to relieve his gout . . . Sam Miller, Indiana U.'s great quarter-miler of 15 years ago, soon will begin piloting clipper ships across the Atlantic . . . Your old pal, Al Schacht, guest-stars on "The Sports Newsreel of the Air" tomorrow night . . . Most expensive bench-warmer in baseball is Charlie Gehringer—at $25,000 per . . . George Stirnweiss, former U. of North Carolina grid star, now with Newark, already has swiped more bases in the International League than young Eddie Collins did to lead the loop last year . . . Billy Evans, the old umpire, can take bows for his eminently fair treatment of the Cleveland ball club situation in the current Esquire . . . Maxie Baer can pick up five grand by fighting Patsy Perroni in Syracuse.

And That's a Face

"If Louis retires, what then?" asks the New York Sun . . . Just this: There'll be no real heavyweight champion, no matter who inherits the crown.

He Catches On Quick

You can't fool wise old Bill McKechnie . . . "It's high time we got started," he said yesterday.

Among Bible citations comprising the Lesson-Sermon is the following: "O bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of His praise to be heard: Which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved" (Psalms 66:8, 9.) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "When we realize that Life is Spirit, never in nor of matter, this understanding will expand into self-completeness, finding all in God, good, and needing no other consciousness" (p. 264.)

This newspaper takes pleasure in printing below the names of the concerns which make it possible to give publicity to the church activities and the preaching of the word on the Sabbath Day.

WHAT CAN I DO TO HELP AMERICA RIGHT NOW?

Give to the U.S.O.
Mail your check to H. B. Meachem, treasurer, Room 201 Warren Nat'l Bank Bldg.

Around New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Rockefeller Center, these days, is fairly bursting with banks. . . . Three have opened branches side by side in the last year and there now are six banks within the space of a hundred yards. . . . Like the newspapers, which gradually abandoned the downtown "Park Row" district, the banks have been moving beyond Midtown. . . . It's the northward urge, as the city grows.

My good friend George W. Sutton, Jr., who has worked in Africa, sponsored international motorboat societies, edited magazines, written books and who heads the Sutton News Agency, has been regaling himself with the exploits of his early ancestors. . . . "Why, the first woman ever hanged in America was one of my ancestors," he said. . . . Looking up the records of these dim, distant ancestors has taken, pleasantly, a lot of his time and his wife's time. When I asked him where Mrs. Sutton was, he replied, "She's over in the library looking up dead Suttons."

BIOGRAPHICAL note: Forty-five years ago Koster & Biel's old Music Hall, in 34th street, was the scene of the first motion picture shown publicly in America. . . . Today they show large-screen television there. The screen they use is 15 by 20 feet.

John P. Marquand, author of "H. M. Pulham, Esquire," gets around. A week or so ago he received the degree of doctor of letters from the University of Maine. . . . Now he has given up his New York apartment to go to Ecuador to gather material for magazine articles.

Ben Marden tells me that a recent week's gross at the Riviera was the highest in seven years. . . . Bob Christenberry of the Astor tells me Tommy Dorsey has drawn more people to the Astor roof than any previous personality in the roof's history. . . . Charles E. Rochester of the Lexington tells me Hawaiian Room business — always good — is far above that of last year. The defense money has had a lot to do with all this.

THE butlers at the Vanderbilt mansion on Fifth avenue are expert chess players. Maybe enthusiastic would be a better word. They sit in full view of the Fifth avenue traffic every day and play, and the crowds gape. At heart those butlers probably are actors.

Leon, of Leon & Eddie's, the famous night club impresarios, never wears a necktie in daylight. I see him walking almost daily in Sixth avenue, en route to his club, with blue or gray shirt and suit sans necktie.

Suzanne Silvercruys, the noted sculptor, has written a "primer" on the art of sculpture. "I wrote it," she says, "because most people don't realize that sculpturing is a process of building up, not a process of chiseling down."

A note in a metropolitan paper on how-to-keep-cool suggests perforated shoes, shirts open at the throat, and no hats. . . . The hat people aren't going to take kindly to this.

It was an odd ailment that laid Josef Hofmann, the concert pianist, low, last week. He had to call off an appearance at the Stadium because of "water on the knee."

members last month endorsed Justice William M. Parker for the Supreme Court and Judge Charles E. Kenworthey for the Superior Court in the coming elections. Both were appointed earlier this year by Governor James, but must face the election in November.

In a speech prepared for delivery with the resolution by Judge Fleming, the executive committee, action was criticized, and the state committee was described as having "the sole power to make such important decisions."

The Democratic state committee usually endorses a slate of candidates. This year it backed Judge Michael A. Musmanno of Allegheny county for the Superior Court.

Advance Reported Unhalted

portant central front was claimed in the communique which said Nazi forces were pushing a widening salient beyond Smolensk, 230 miles from Moscow.

How far the motorized troops had pierced beyond the historic old Russian western bastion on the upper Dnieper (Dnepr) was not disclosed by the German High Command, but it said Soviet efforts to recapture the city had been shattered since it fell Wednesday after a stout defense.

(Unofficial German accounts intimated 20 days ago a Nazi spearhead was within sight of Smolensk.)

Berlin newspapers and military commentators, elaborating on the official account, declared a wedge probably had been driven deep into the hinterland beyond the fortified city of 100,000 population while infantry and follow-up forces were cleaning up trapped Red Army units in the rear.

The Germans reported reaching Smolensk through a steadily-widened gap in the Stalin defense line along the land bridge between the Dvina and Dnieper rivers.

The German account said the Red Army suffered heavy losses in its unsuccessful fight to hold and regain the city—a milestone along Napoleon's 1812 march to Moscow.

With the luftwaffe still steadily hammering at supply and communications lines east of the battlefront, German sources took the view that the Russians are experiencing "a repetition of what led to catastrophe for the French armies—a breakdown of communications and military information".

After a week of assurances from the High Command that all is going well along the entire eastern front, the German public is expecting that questions in the mind of the people about specific operations toward Leningrad and Kiev may be answered soon.

There has been a lack of definite news from these fronts for the past few days, while the press has carried reports of minor victories scattered along entire front and descriptive stories from soldier-reporters.

(A British Exchange Telegraph Agency report last night from Istanbul said large-scale military preparations directed by the German general staff were under way in Bulgaria opposite the Turkish frontier.

(Travelers entering Turkey from that direction were reported to have predicted that important German moves in Bulgaria could be expected.)

firm's first and only labor trouble in 30 years."

Drivers now receive $1 hourly for an 8-hour day, Callahan explained, adding that the union also demands paid holidays with double pay for drivers who work, time-and-a-half rates for all time over a 48 hour week and two weeks paid vacations. He estimated it would cost the company $75,000 annually to meet all demands.

Union President George Croyle said Newspaper Delivery Service in which the company handles deliveries of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette was not affected.

dam and power plant at Ohiopyle, in the Youghiogheny river basin, $2,750,000; dam and power plant, two miles below Ohiopyle, $2,300,000; dam and power plant four miles below Ohiopyle, $1,500,000; a regulating reservoir below the three dams, $800,000; and a generating unit in a dam now being built at Confluence, also in the Youghiogheny Basin, $2,100,000.

The commission proposes the Reconstruction Finance Corporation advance large sums annually to private and public utilities to help finance the developments.

Special Session in Doubt

district and Bucks and Montgomery in another, reducing the number from those districts from three to two.

Leo A. Achterman, Democratic floor leader in the House, in the closing minutes of the session, after the Senate had defeated that plan by a 20 to 19 vote—six less than a constitutional majority—denied the Democrats had held unswervingly to the Lehigh-Berks-Montgomery-Bucks plan, and contended others had been approved, but failed to win an okay in the conference committee. Both branches ordered a 10-man committee to study the problem and report to the next special or regular session.

The 191-day session, longest since 1842, cost the taxpayers a million and one-half dollars in round figures.

Commenting on the session, Governor James said:

"My reaction is that the only serious complaints, aside from the question of reapportionment, were the undue amount of time wasted and the partisan attitude displayed by certain Democratic bosses who got in control of the Democratic caucuses.

"Certainly the administration and Republican party have few causes for complaint, despite the earlier stories that the state was bankrupt, and that vast new taxes were inevitable.

"The Republican party has come off with flying colors. We have a balanced budget which should pave the way for a huge tax reduction at the next regular session.

"I consider the session and its accomplishments a complete vindication both of the Republican party and my administrative policies."

Democratic leaders of the legislature hastened homeward—some before the session actually came to an end—without declaring their impressions of the 28 weeks of deliberation.

The governor re-appointed Col. Lynn G. Adams as commissioner of the state police and John N. McKee as chairman of the Milk Control Commission, and named acting secretary of commerce Mark S. James to the full secretary rank. James succeeded Richard P. Brown, who resigned last winter in a dispute over publicity advertising.

The names of Adams and McKee never came before the Senate for confirmation, because of the known hostility on the Democratic side of the chamber. The Republicans had 32 votes, but needed two Democrats to win confirmation for the two men.

mitted to return to their homes after one year of service."

The president told reporters yesterday that he would send a special message to congress next week recommending that selectees, National Guardsmen and reserves be retained in training beyond one year.

Senator Clark (D-Idaho) expressed views similar to Wheeler's regarding yesterday's White House press conference. "If the president really pulls a Wheeler," Clark declared, "he will keep this country out of war and will release the selectees. Everyone hopes that he will carry out his commitments."

Senator Nye (R-ND) took exception to Mr. Roosevelt's statement yesterday that American forces would provide protection in Iceland against attack or threat of attack. The president added that neither he nor his listeners could define threat of attack.

"The president's declaration that he couldn't define a threat of attack against us makes it evident that he has little or no reason on which to base a declaration of emergency," Nye said.

vote on sale of liquor at the September 9 primary.

Petitions have been filed by Lack, Tuscarora and Delaware townships, and Mifflin borough, involving voters in seven of the county's 20 districts. The borough of Irvine in Cumberland county also will vote on the question.

On the effect of the legislature on the wet-dry issue, Dr. McBride commented:

"The tide has turned and the wets will need to 'watch their step' and change the nature of their program or they will be quickly shown by the people of Pennsylvania the way out. We will gladly join in any program to enforce liquor laws and for rule by the people."

Dr. McBride paid tribute to the fairness of the presiding officers of both branches of the legislature, but said the "pickling" of meritorious bills in committee was unfair.

MILK PRICE IN PHILLY HIKED CENT A QUART

Harrisburg, July 19—(AP)—Philadelphia housewives will have to pay one cent a quart more for their milk after July 25.

The Pennsylvania Milk Control Commission ordered the increase yesterday and said the price may be jumped another cent later in the year "if present production costs continue". The present price in Philadelphia is 12 cents a quart for grade B and 15 cents for grade A.

The commisison estimated price increases would total $3,000,000 a year for milk producers of the area which includes all of Philadelphia county, and parts of Bucks, Montgomery and Delaware counties adjacent to the city.

HEAT AND FIRES IN NORTHWEST COSTLY

Seattle, July 19—(AP)—Heat and fires have taken a toll of lives, timber and grain in the Pacific northwest. In Oregon, nine deaths were attributed to the heat, four persons drowned and one was killed by lightning. Washington charged two deaths to the heat and reported dozens of prostrations.

Temperatures in the two states have climbed as high as 115 degrees in recent days, breaking all-time records in several areas.

Fires, most of them set by lightning, have exacted a toll of timber and wheat.

The average motor vehicle in the United States has an annual burden of federal and state taxes of about $60 as compared with $35 only a decade ago.

The motor car industry's payroll is now four times as great as it was during World War days.

bassadors and ministers abroad were expected, as Matsuoka had carried out a thorough-going reorganization of the foreign service when he became foreign minister a year ago.

Renzo Sawada, who was recalled from his post as ambassador to France in Matsuoka's shakeup, was reported slated for the job of vice minister of foreign affairs.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 19.—(AP)—Wheat prices advanced about a cent a bushel in early dealings today as a result of buying stimulated by outstanding strength in other commodities, such as cotton, soybeans and lard.

Opening ¼-⅞ higher, July $1.01¼-⅜, September $1.03¼-⅝, wheat later held near this range. Corn started ⅛ off to ¼ up, July 72¾, September 75.

TICKETS ARE ON SALE HERE FOR FISHBEIN TALK

A large number from Warren, including several physicians, nurses and other interested persons, are planning to attend a Kiwanis Club banquet at the Kane Armory on Tuesday evening, July 29, when the guest speaker will be Dr. Morris Fishbein, one of the country's leading medical authorities.

The banquet is being held for the benefit of the crippled children's fund of the Kane Kiwanis Club.

The Warren Kiwanis Club is cooperating in the promotion of the event here and tickets are on sale at Baker's Cleaners by H. D. Baker, first vice president of the local club. Reservations may be made or tickets purchased there. All reservations must be made before Friday, July 25.

The general public is invited to hear Dr. Fishbein, who is editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association and who for several years has written a syndicated newspaper column on general medicine.

Dr. Fishbein is speaking at Chautauqua on the day following his appearance in Kane.

To Present Concert Here

The well known radio and concert quartet "The Messengers" of Minneapolis, Minn., will present a sacred service in song at the Calvary Baptist church at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening.

During the past seven years this group, pictured here, has visited nearly every state in the union, besides several provinces in Canada. A year before the start of the current war in Europe, they traveled through Germany, France, Belgium and Sweden and sang in England, Denmark and Norway.

These young men are alumni of the Lutheran Bible School at Fergus Falls, Minn., and during the past year, in addition to radio and concert work, have attended the University of Minnesota, Augsburg College and the Minneapolis Vocal Arts School.

No admission is charged and the public is cordially invited to this fine song service.

Annual YMCA Camping Period Comes to Close With Big Campfire

Camp Warren, Brocton, N. Y., July 19—A large campfire Friday night closed the annual Y. M. C. A. camp season here—one of the busiest and most successful ever held.

Many individual and tent contests have been completed and winners of events are listed below:

Track (first week)—100 yard dash, R. White and N. Simmons; running broad jump, R. Wilkins and J. Reddecliff; standing broad jump, J. Elliott and J. Reddecliff; baseball throw, B. Erickson and Simmons.

Track (second week)—100 yard dash, H. Rue and R. Davis; shot put, R. Adams and D. Almendinger; standing and running broad jumps.

Swimming meet—First places won by Dick Pryce, Davey Winans, Neil Simmons, Jim Cochener and Dick Adams.

Tether ball — Don Sontag and Neil Simmons.

Foul shooting—Dick Pryce and Bud Leuthold.

Box hockey—Bill Clinger and John Robertson.

Horse shoes—Harlan Rue and John Knapp.

The two weeks have been full of activities which include hikes along the beach and to see the streamlined trains near camp. A very successful stunt night was presented, with the mess tent made over into a fine theatre. The winning stunt was put on by Gordon Elmquist, Tommy Dykins, Dick Lindquist and Dale Almendinger for Tent No. 7.

Winning mushball league team was the Popovers, including Don White, captain; John Robertson, J. Bottorf, J. Knapp, J. Kyler, R. Streich, Dick Swick, Al Gibson and Phil Johnson. In football, the winning team was the Yankees with John Hamilton, captain; N. Simmons, T. Hampson, H. Blick, Bill Hill, Jr., R. Munson, Jim Johnson and G. Swartzfager.

Presentation of emblem was made to the following first week campers: First year—Richard Pryce, Jim Boddorf, John Kyler, Ray Streich, Randy White, Davey Winans, Jim Johnson, Dave Helm and John Watt. Second year—Don White, Dick Swick, Bill Hill and Henry Blick. Third year—John Knapp, Jack Reddecliff, Tom Hampson and John Robertson.

Honor camper award for the second week goes to Bill Clinger. Other awards will be announced later.

Telford Eppley and his staff will remain for one more week to conduct the annual Y. M. C. A. Health Camp for boys.

New Memorial Books Presented to the Warren Public Library

New memorial books recently presented to the public library are Behold the Man! by Toyohiko Kagawa; Golden Mirages by Philip A. Bailey; Music for the Multitude by Sidney Harrison; I Came by Walter C. Lanyon; Counsel Assigned and The Perfect Tribute by Mary R. S. Andrews.

Behold the Man! has been presented in memory of Mrs. W. J. Richards. The great Japanese Christian, Kagawa, has for thirty-five years devoted his life to demonstrating the changing power of Christianity in his fight against faith, ignorance and disease in the slums. Not only is he a member of men but he is Japan's most prolific writer. Behold the Man! is his most recent work, the life of Christ in the form of a moving novel.

Golden Mirages has been presented in memory of Richard G. Dawson. Philip A. Bailey has collected from those who know the desert prospectors, cow-hands, Indians and pioneers, these stories of lost gold mines such as that of the Pegleg Mine and the legendary Three Gold Buttes. Every old adobe house, church, canyon and mountain range in the Southwest seems to have its mystery. Golden mirages is evidence hwoever that these ghosts have not stopped the men who search for gold.

Music for the Multitude is a recent publication presented by friends in memory of Walter H. Murphy. Sidney Harrison, the author, is widely known in British musical circles as a pianist, teacher of music and radio broadcaster. In this new book he develops the relation of music to social and political events.- from the time of the earliest ritual chants to the emergence of modern swing.

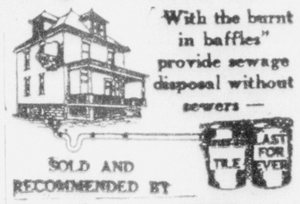

I Came presented in memory of Mrs. D. I. Ball is the first volume of a trilogy. Walter C. Lanyon, journalist and writer, is deeply concerned with experience in another dimension which he calls Father Consciousness or Creative Consciousness. He urges the reader to free himself from devitalizing evil in the present plane and lay hold of a cosmic power which makes a more abundant life through an acceptance of divine law for human conduct.

Counsel Assigned and The Perfect Tribute presented in memory of Levi Smith are two books centering around incidents in the life of Abraham Lincoln which reveal traits of his character in a vivid, pointed manner.

All of these books are now available for circulation at the public library.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor,
Times-Mirror.

If I may, I would like to use your columns again in cautioning citizens of Warren against questionable projects which may cost them money without bringing any returns. These have been reported to the Chamber through the National Better Business Bureau.

Home owners should be exceedingly careful in signing "contracts" with strangers for new roofs or other repairs or installations in their homes, and positively should sign nothing without reading it word for word, including any apparently unimportant small type. Many persons who thought they were merely signing a contract covering work have discovered that, whether any work was done or not, the document was a promissory note.

We are informed that many new groups have been organized to solicit funds and merchandise "for war refugees" and for our own soldiers, most of which organizations are of rather questionable character. Care should be exercised in giving money to strangers.

Employers should inquire at this office before giving checks for subscriptions to magazines for their employes, for racketeers are promoting such publications to "combat Fifth Columnists."

Merchants of all types are cautioned against an itinerant window trimmer who is covering communities in this section, offering to trim windows for a ridiculously low sum. Before he is through with a job he manages to involve his employers in unexpected expenditures.

Before concluding any transaction with a stranger, inquiries should be made at this office, or complete information relative to him and his organization should be obtained elsewhere.

Warren has high grade contractors to do all necessary work, and local men and women represent practically all the worthwhile relief and defense organizations. It would be better for Warrenites to restrict their business and contributions to these responsible fellow citizens.

H. W. Correll, Secretary,
Warren Chamber of Commerce.

When replacing a battery it is a good plan to notice at the moment whether the ammeter arm shows discharge when the lights are turned on. If it does, the installation is correct.

Warren Student to Be Graduated From Slippery Rock Soon

Charles Burch, a senior in the secondary curriculum at State Teachers College, Slippery Rock, expects to receive the B. S. degree in education at the graduation exercises to be held in the college chapel Friday morning, July 25, at 10 o'clock. His special fields of study are biological science, mathematics, and physical science. He did his student teaching in the high school department of the college laboratory school last semester.

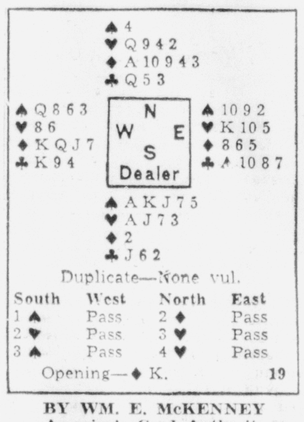

During his four years at Slippery Rock Charles has not only maintained a high scholastic rating, but has been prominent in campus affairs. He has served as president of the Open Road Club and of the Biology Study Group, and as treasurer of the Men's Dormitory Council. He has also participated in dramatics and has been a member of the cross country team.

In addition to these activities Charles is a member of Phi Sigma Pi and Alpha Omega fraternities and is affiliated with Trigcalana, a mathematics society, the International Relations Club, and the Y. M. C. A. He also sings in the Vespers Choir.

Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Burch, 118 Main Avenue, Warren.

NATIONAL CONTEST GIVES NON-MASTERS CHANCE TO STEP UP

Duplicate—None vul.

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♥	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 ♥	Pass

Opening—♦ K. 19

BY WM. E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

One of the most popular events at the summer session of the national championships in August is the amateur pair event. This is better known as the President's Pairs, because the trophies are traditionally donated by the president of the American Contract Bridge League.

This event is restricted to players with less than 10 Master Points, and is one contest in which there is never a defending champion, since victory makes the winners Masters. It is popular because it gives all non-Masters the best possible chance to take a step up the ladder of national ranking.

Today's hand was dealt in the President's Cup last year. It gave some pairs an opportunity to demonstrate excellent play. The opening lead was taken by the ace of diamonds.

Then South cashed the top spades, discarding a club from dummy. He led a low club. West jumped in with the king. West returned the queen of diamonds and South ruffed. Another club forced out the ace. East exited with the third diamond, which South ruffed.

East's failure to lead trumps placed him with the king. Declarer now found a clever play for his contract. After cashing the jack of clubs, he led a third spade for dummy to ruff low. A low trump was led from dummy and the finesse of the jack held.

Then South led the fourth spade and ruffed with the queen of trumps. East over-ruffed, but the contract was made. With two cards left, if East led the trump, the ace would pick up all adverse trumps and the spade jack would make. But the club lead would let South discard the jack of spades and dummy's nine of hearts would shut out West's eight.

OPEN ALUMINUM CAMPAIGN SOON AT YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, July 19.—Isadore A. Schnell, local chairman of the civil defense committee, announces that the national defense aluminum collection drive, which is being conducted throughout the nation from July 21st to July 29th, will start in Youngsville next Monday. The local Boy Scouts under the direction of F. F. Jaffin, Scout leader, will make the house to house canvass in Youngsville. It is desired to collect all scrap aluminum which can be spared. Pots or pans, or any form of aluminum can be used and is now needed in the national defense program.

Leo Johnson, of Youngsville, who is chairman of the Agriculture Defense Committee of Warren county, called his committee together last evening in the Grange Hall and plans were made for the collection of aluminum articles in the rural sections of the county.

CLUB ENTERTAINED

Mrs. William Shortt, Jr., was hostess Tuesday evening to the Melba Demkins Club at a steak roast held at the Shortt cottage on York Hill. The young ladies enjoyed a delicious meal followed by games and a social time. Besides club members, guests present were Mrs. Gwendolin Mariner, and Mrs. Mildred Kicliter, of Fort Pierce, Fla.

Your 16th Annual Flower Show

Warren National Bank

It's just for amateurs! Read these rules:

1. EXACT NUMBER... be sure you have the exact number of specimens called for.

2. YOU GROW THEM... all entries must be grown by the exhibitor. Awards will be made on merit alone.

3. PRIZES IN ONE FAMILY ... No more than one prize in any one class, or more than three prizes in all classes of flowers will be awarded to the same person, or members of his family.

4. AMATEURS ONLY . . . By the word amateur is meant a person who maintains a garden for his or her own use and enjoyment, and not for the purpose of making a profit, and who does not employ regularly a gardener. No prizes will be awarded to commercial growers or to a person employed regularly as a gardener.

5. NO COMMERCIAL DISPLAYS . . . No exhibits will be accepted or displayed from any commercial growers.

6. ARRANGEMENT. . . Only vases, plates and cards furnished by the Bank are used. The classification card will be sealed in an envelope, having on the outside nothing but the number of the exhibit entry, and will not be opened until the exhibit has been judged.

7. EXTRA PRIZES. . . Any worthwhile amateur exhibit not included in the prize list may, at the discretion of the Judges, be given a prize.

8. PRIZE CHECKS. . . These will be mailed to the winners during the week following the Show.
